

Four Die in Centerville Fire

By MATT SPIRENG

CENTERVILLE—A family of six was suddenly and tragically reduced to two today as a raging fire swept their home in the Timber Lake Development three miles west of Centerville.

Killed in the rampaging fire were Frank and Sharlene Perrin and two of their four children, Mark, 11 and Scott, 10. State police investigators at the scene had not immediately determined the ages of the parents but said they were in their early thirties.

The two survivors, Todd, 7, and Sean, 5, were apparently saved by the efforts of their mother, Mrs. Perrin reportedly passed the two children out a front window or the front door to a waiting neighbor. She then apparently turned back into the inferno for further rescue attempts, only to die in the flames.

The first call concerning the blaze was received at the Centerville Fire Company shortly before 6 a.m., but by the time the firefighters arrived at the scene the building was completely engulfed in flames, according to Fire Chief Warren Benz.

The two surviving children were reportedly rushed to the Kingston Hospital by an unidentified neighbor. They were listed in good condition by hospital authorities.

Neighbors were apparently first alerted to the blaze when they heard what they thought were gunshots fired by early morning hunters. After seeing the fire, a neighbor immediately placed the call to the fire company.

State police surmised that what neighbors thought were gunshots were actually explosions in the house due to the fire.

The blaze itself was actually extinguished before 7 a.m., according to Benz, but it was several hours before the last of the four bodies was removed from the charred remains of the house.

The first three bodies were discovered close together at approximately 8 a.m. Police said that the apparently unrecognized remains were those of the father and two children. They were found on the first floor of the two-story wood structure, but police said they had apparently been together in a second floor bedroom when the floor caved in, carrying them to ground level.

The body of the mother was not found until 9:20 a.m., as firemen continued to sift through the wreckage in search of it. It was found in the playroom area of the house, covered by wreckage from the second floor.

The remains of the four were little more than skeletal. The house, too, was not much more than a skeleton after firefighters had doused the blaze.

The Perrins had lived in the house near Shultis Corners for nine years, police said they came to this area from Michigan. Perrin worked for IBM.

Neighbors stood in shock on the front lawn of what was once the Perrin home. "I can't believe it. They were such nice people," one was heard to say.

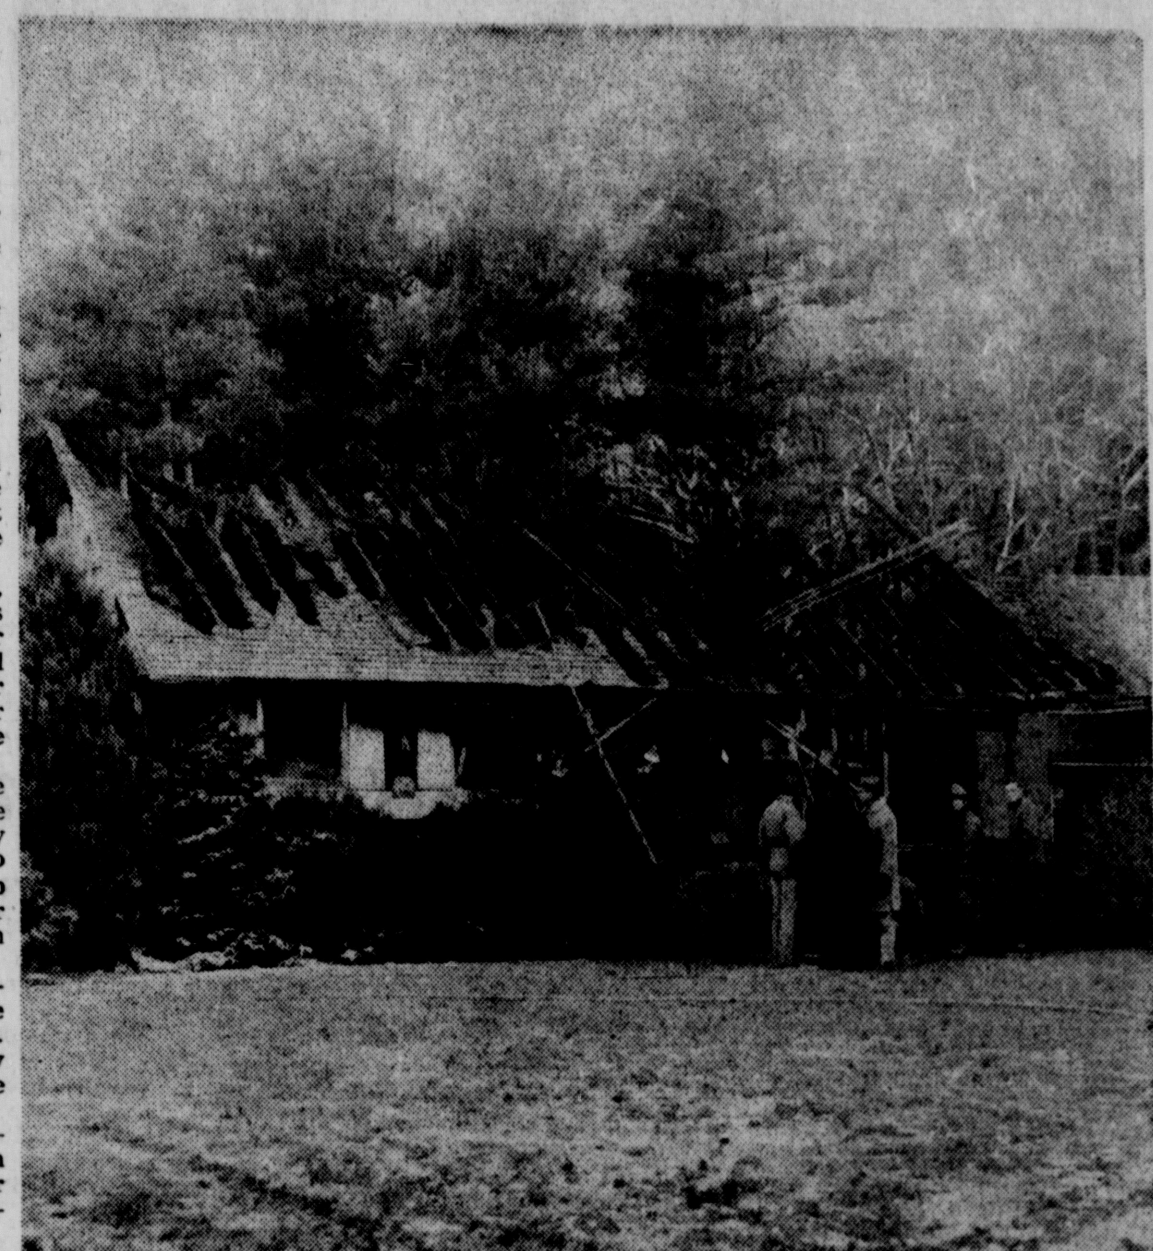

In the garage of the house, one of the few parts which was not destroyed by fire, four bicycles remained. Two stood upright, and two were on their sides, mirroring the horror which struck the Perrin home in the early hours of the day.

Neither the cause of the blaze nor the causes of death for the four persons were immediately determined, according to authorities who continued to investigate at the scene after the last body had been removed.

Equipment from the Centerville and Woodstock fire companies were at the scene. The Saugerties fire company stood by at the Centerville Firehouse.

Authorities said the fire apparently started in the playroom area of the house, but further investigation is necessary before they can be certain.

The Perrin house had stood on Osnas Lane just off Route 212 between Woodstock and Saugerties.

Early Winter in County, State

By JEAN F. DOLAN

KINGSTON

Ulster County residents found a Christmas card world today more than a month too early.

The pre-season preview of things to come dumped up to seven inches of snow in mountain areas, delayed school openings and slowed commuter traffic in the early morning hours.

Elsewhere in the state, traffic was at a standstill in the snowbelt. Albany was hardest hit with 17.3 inches of snow. Buffalo under 11 inches of snow closed its airport for five hours as the storm swept in from the Great Lakes.

In Dutchess County, closer to home, an estimated 200 trucks were stacked up today on eastbound lanes of Interstate Route 84 in the Stormville Mountain area. According to State police, traffic was being diverted into the Taconic Parkway.

Ulster County was virtually by-passed by the giant storm which blew in from the Plain States on Tuesday. Belleaire Ski Center reported a six to seven inch accumulation on the mountain with a 20 degree temperature holding it firm.

Two to two and a half inches of snow accumulated in most other county areas overnight after a day of mixed precipitation, which went from drenching rain to snow, sleet and hail.

Most roads were passable today although motorists caught unawares without snow tires had some slippery moments.

In the city, salters were out at 1 a.m. and had all major arteries completed by 2:30 a.m. with no problems reported. No problems were encountered by Central Hudson utility crews either although the snow was of heavy water content.

Wet cables disrupted service for a time Tuesday for New York Telephone Company customers in Woodstock, parts of Saugerties, Shekane and Phoenicia.

In Kingston three quarters of an inch of snow was reported on the heels of more than an inch of rain.

Statewide, the storm was the second heaviest recorded thus far for the month of November. The first occurred last Thanksgiving day when 21.8 inches accumulated for the only major storm of that winter season. The previous record for early snow in the state was 10 inches back on Nov. 9, 1960.

Local residents may remember the early snows of November, 1968 when up to 12 inches accumulated in county sections on the 12th.

And if the snow today is a foretaste of things to come, the extended forecast is little consolation. Clearing skies and freezing temperatures are in store for Thursday and Friday.

Reds Renew Demands . . . Call for Thieu Resignation

By United Press International

talks with Chinese Premier

Chou En-lai.

The Communists renewed their demands today that President Nguyen Van Thieu resign, but Saigon reports said he was considering sending his own envoy to Paris in hopes of joining the secret negotiations between Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho.

Diplomatic sources in Paris said the Kissinger-Tho talks could resume this weekend, and Washington reports said the presidential adviser could leave as early as tonight. Tho left Peking today for Paris after talks with Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong foreign minister, said in a statement published today in Paris the United States must remove Thieu from power because he keeps blocking the Vietnam peace accord.

But in Saigon the daily newspaper Tin Song said Hoang Duc Nha, Thieu's nephew and close adviser, may go to Paris to represent South Vietnam at the secret peace talks.

Tin Song (Live News) is partially financed by Nha, who is Thieu's personal secretary and the only South Vietnamese present at all of the meetings last month between Thieu and Kissinger. Nha also sat in on the discussions last weekend between Thieu and White House envoy Gen. Alexander Haig.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker met with Thieu at Independence Palace for 25 minutes today, the embassy said. It was Bunker's first meeting with Thieu since last Saturday when Haig was in Saigon.

Communist Vietnamese diplomats said in private they will veto any attempt by Saigon to win admission to the prospective new secret meeting between Kissinger and Hanoi negotiators. In public they treated the suggestion as a joke.

Speaking to a group of newsmen from Asia, Latin America and Africa, Madame Binh said Tuesday night

President Nixon's support for Thieu, his "unprecedented extermination bombing" of North Vietnam and massive arms shipments for Saigon were endangering the already achieved peace accord platform.

The four delegations—American, South Vietnamese, Viet Cong and North Vietnamese, will hold their 167th weekly session at 10:30 a.m. Thursday. The semipublic sessions serve as a sounding board for the delegations but the production talks have all been done in the secret U.S.-Hanoi parley.

Diplomatic observers said Madame Binh's statements have been much more virulent than those from North Vietnam, although the Viet Cong delegation denied it has been irritated by some clauses of the Kissinger-Tho draft agreement.

Her remarks came as diplomatic sources in Paris said the next round of the peace negotiations could start this weekend. White House sources said presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger might return to the French capital as early as tonight for resumption of the talks.

Cheers at Stock Exchange

NEW YORK (AP)— Amid cheers on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange, the Dow Jones industrial average closed above 1,000 points for the first time in history on Tuesday.

In the aftermath, Wall Streeters are asking themselves what the long-term consequences would be.

"Do investors who have been waiting for this historic level now start selling off and taking profits, or does the event increase investor enthusiasm?"

asked Robert Johnson of Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis.

"This could be the great incentive for the small investor to come back into the market," said Edward A. Merkle, president of the Madison Fund.

The Dow average of 30 industrial stocks closed at 1003.16, up 6.09 from Monday's close of 997.07, the previous record. The Dow has now set records in three sessions in a row.

The New York Stock Exchange Index, a much broader gauge of market activity than the Dow, since it includes some of the Dow was over 1,000. The 1,400 common stocks, also set an official figure is derived after record Tuesday. It closed up .54 the close of trading, using the at 62.94, erasing the old high of individual highs of each of the 62.52 set Nov. 3. Standard & 30 component stocks, even if Poor's index of 500 stocks also those highs were achieved at varying times.

Last Friday marked the first time the Dow has ever exceeded 1,000 points at any given moment during trading.

Saugerties School Board vs. Dr. Arnold

'Gross Breach of Contract' Charged at Hearing

By JON POWERS

ALBANY

Charges of "illegal appropriation of funds" and "administrative incompetence" were formally leveled by the Saugerties Board of Education against Superintendent Dexter O. Arnold at a commissioner's hearing here on Tuesday.

"This is absolute nonsense," responded Kingston Attorney John Egan, who represented Dr. Arnold at the hearing. "These charges are nothing but utter trivia," Egan said.

Tuesday's hearing at the State Education Department marked the first time the Saugerties Board of Education's charges against Dr. Arnold were made public. Acting Commissioner of Education Gordon Ambach granted Attorney Egan a two-week stay to study and answer the specific accusations.

Dr. Arnold was fired by the school board on June 30, but later reinstated by the commissioner of education pending a hearing.

At that hearing, Tuesday, Albany Attorney Carroll Mealey, representing the school district, introduced a "partial list" of the "most serious" charges against Dr. Arnold. He said that certain of Dr. Arnold's actions represented a "gross breach of contract" on Dr. Arnold's part.

Specifically the school board has charged that Dr. Arnold: ● Personally approved contracts totaling about $1,300 for printing services from the Mark IV Printing Company of Saugerties between August, 1968 and August 1971. The printing firm is owned by Robert Herb, who was president of the board of education when Dr. Arnold was first hired in 1963.

The school board maintains that the transactions represented a "conflict of interest."

● Publicly charged the board of education with "irresponsibility" in a July 7, 1971 press release after the board abolished the post of administrative assistant.

● Attempted to "tender tenure recommendations" at a June, 1972 meeting between the school board and BOCES despite the fact that there was no quorum present to call a special meeting and that the school board had not yet had the opportunity to conduct its traditional interviews with the candidates.

● Illegally transferred — on March 14, 1972 — the sum of $1,400 from an improper account.

● Spent $6,500 from accounts he knew contained only "several hundred dollars" in March 1972.

● Caused the school district to lose $103,000 in state aid in February, 1972 because of miscalculations in student growth within the district.

● Submitted $2,000 in expense vouchers for conference trips after the school board voted to delete conference expenses from the budget.

Generally, the school board maintains that it fired Dr. Arnold because "a consistent pattern of frustration" has developed between the board and Dr. Arnold "on numerous occasions." Mealey added, "because of the conduct of the superintendent either inadvertently or through gross incompetence it has become impossible for the school board to work with this superintendent."

Dr. Arnold's attorney responded to the general charges with incredulity. "These people (the school board) have tried to conjure up all the trivia of the past eight years... this is absolute nonsense... if these are proper charges, why weren't we notified of them prior to today's hearing," said Egan.

Egan, however, could not respond to the specific charges leveled by the school board because, he said, Tuesday was the first time that he had seen them.

A basic issue in this case appears to revolve around whether a school board can summarily dismiss a superintendent without prior notice or a hearing. It is on this point of law that the acting commissioner will likely rule.

At Tuesday's 30-minute session, Egan maintained that Dr. Arnold was not given the opportunity to face his accusers or to answer the charges. "A superintendent is entitled to the same rights as a teacher," said Egan.

The school board, however, "... did what it was entitled to do..." said Mealey, "without a hearing and without detailing the charges. The superintendent is not the equivalent of a teacher; no notice or grounds are necessary for dismissal. This is a simple breach of contract case."

Egan said that the charges against Dr. Arnold were "vague" and "general." He added, "This represents a roughshod movement on the part of certain board members who simply decided for personal reasons that they wanted to get rid of Dr. Arnold. There is not a shred of decency in these proceedings."

Dr. Arnold, Board President Robert Francello and Board Clerk Peter Kramer attended Tuesday's hearing and Board members Wesley Maxwell and Vice President Thomas Macarille, as did Dr. John Jehu, associate counsel for the education department. Only the attorneys made statements at the proceedings.

The whole matter will resume again in two weeks after Dr. Arnold's attorneys answer the charges filed by the board of education.

Conservation Chairman Supports Action

RHINEBECK Vocal support for a recent action taken by the Town of Rhinebeck Zoning Board of Appeals was voiced today by John Grim, chairman of the town's Council for Environmental Conservation.

Grim stated that the Council "wishes to publicly commend the action taken by the Town Zoning Board of Appeals in refusing to grant a variance to Grand Union allowing them to erect a larger sign than prescribed in the zoning ordinance."

He said that John Tieder, a member of the Council, expressed the views of the Council to the Board of Appeals prior to its decision to refuse the application for a variance.

Representatives of the soon-to-be-opened store had claimed that a larger sign was needed for identification on the major highway, Route 9.

Members of the Environmental Council have also selected a winner of the contest to design a sign to place on all major roads entering and leaving the town.

Local Boy Scouts participated in the contest, and the winning design was submitted by Richard McKibben. Signs will be erected notifying motorists that they are either entering or leaving the Town of Rhinebeck.

Approval Given

The Town of Rochester Planning Board met Tuesday night and gave final approval to the Worley Development, subject to the regulations of the State Environmental Conservation Commission. Rhinebeck Village Board

Public Grievances Dominate Session

Matters of public grievances occupied the major portion of the public session of the Rhinebeck Village Board Tuesday evening, although the scope of the grievances was restricted to individual cases.

Alnora Seymour, who, in cooperation with her late husband has developed much of a village residential area in the Croamour section, complained that a street had at the last moment been denied approval from the village, thereby, allegedly causing her financial distress for the winter.

After much discussion a special meeting for Nov. 21 was set up to attempt to bring the matter to a close. It was alleged in a village recommendation from Trustee Eugene Trombini that poor drainage was evident on the street in question.

Another village resident attacked Mayor Peter Sipperley because the mayor "set a poor example" by allegedly burning leaves at his residence in defiance of state regulations. Sipperley retorted that this minor infraction, of which he pleaded guilty, was nobody's business but his neighbors and indicted poor past performances by the Department of Health for much of the inequities in enforcement of environmental laws.

The Board tabled a somewhat controversial zoning request from several members of Montgomery Street asking that their properties be rezoned commercial from the present residential classification. The Town Planning Board's recommendation was that this request be denied as there seemed to be no urgent need for the change. Since there was no opinion available from the County Department of Planning the matter was tabled.

A resignation from the Town Planning Board from Roy Anderson was accepted with regrets, effective immediately, and a replacement will be sought. Anderson was commended by the board for his fine service.

Mayor Sipperley was given the board's authorization to sign applications to various state and federal agencies requesting funds for the initiation of a sewerage treatment system for the village.

The board passed an ordinance restricting truck travel on Upper Montgomery Street to those vehicles weighing less than 6,000 pounds, in coordinating with a similar effort Rhinebeck Town Board on abutting Mt. Rutens Road. The street will be posted.

And the internal street system of Village Green Apartments off Route 9 was accepted upon the recommendation of Eugene Trombini.

County Executive William Bartles will be present at the Dec. 12 meeting of the board to speak with village and town officials and the public.

Grayson on Price Controls

'Inflation Rate Has Been Slowed'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Price of economic controls, that 85 of inflation for rent, medical care and clothing. Grayson said commission economists had determined there was "an estimated reduction in the rate of inflation from what it would have been without controls of between 1.5 and 2 percentage points."

Grayson told the congressional Joint Economic Committee, which is examining the future

Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., called for extending wage and price controls another year beyond their scheduled expiration next April and urged that food products be included to curb soaring prices at the supermarket.

Javits said the wage-price controls should be extended through April of 1974 since the inflationary spiral "has not yet been decisively broken" under the current program—even though it is working, lowering the annual rate to 3.2 per cent from the 5.6 per cent range in 1969 and 1970.

"However, a glaring anomaly stands out on this road to victory over inflation," he said. "The price of food has risen during this same period by 4.2 per cent, a full percentage point higher than the rate of next year."

He called for a "victory trigger" scheme for ending controls wherein they would be lifted gradually once the being eroded. "I believe that inflation rate is 3 per cent or now is the time to place food less for an entire quarter."

Revenue-Sharing... Bonds Increase Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — State and local governments are expected to increase investments in U.S. savings bonds and Treasury bills with the first portions of their federal revenue-sharing money.

Treasury Department officials say there is nothing in the law to prevent state and local governments from, in effect, lending the money back to the federal government at interest through the purchase of federal securities.

Nor does the Treasury have an idea of how much the long-term interest rates on such securities will cost taxpayers. But at least one economic expert says the situation may lead to reduced interest rates for all borrowers.

The Treasury will mail $5.3 billion to state and local governments during December and January as the first allocation under the revenue-sharing plan approved by the 92nd Congress.

A Treasury spokesman said Tuesday that because the first shares are so large—representing money due through the program retroactive to last Jan. 1—there is an "initial investment probability" in federal securities.

Officials believe that the investments will stop once the shares get smaller and the money has been allocated for

Dem Leaders Wary of Shakeup

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nationwide sampling of Democratic party leaders shows most are wary of any sudden shakeup in party leadership, particularly the firing of party chairman Jean Westwood.

For the time being at least, most are inclined to heed George McGovern's advice to wait.

Mrs. Westwood, McGovern's personal choice for national chairman, has become the center of a struggle for party control in the wake of McGovern's landslide loss to President Nixon in last week's presidential election. She has said she will not step down voluntarily.

But Tuesday McGovern advised caution in overturning either the party leadership or the controversial party reforms for which he is largely responsible.

"It would be a mistake to do things so quickly before final assessments of the election are completed," McGovern said at a news conference in the Virgin Islands where he is vacationing.

An Associated Press survey of Democratic governors, congressional delegations and local party officials revealed a general feeling that some changes are needed but no consensus on what they should be.

Of some 100 party leaders surveyed, the biggest bloc gave a "no comment" or "undecided" reply to questions on Mrs. Westwood's future. But many of those now undecided might make up their minds before the first showdown Dec. 9 when the Democratic National Committee meets.

And of the leaders willing to declare themselves at this point, those against Mrs. Westwood outnumbered those defending her.

Former party chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien emerged as the candidate most frequently mentioned to replace Mrs. Westwood if she is ousted.

O'Brien's popularity apparently derives from his peace-making role as party chairman for two years until his replacement after the Miami Beach convention last July and his performance as chairman of the stormy convention.

While O'Brien has not campaigned for the job, he has said he would consider taking it again. But he said he would have no part in dumping Mrs. Westwood.

Summing up the sentiments expressed by several party leaders, Democratic Chairman Michael Poppiti said he would "favor O'Brien, or an O'Brien-type person who has the ability to make various elements of the party pull together."

MDs Order Sanity Test

MIAMI (UPI) — Authorities ordered doctors to begin testing today the sanity of a father charged with starving his 3-year-old son to death by forbidding his wife to feed the child.

Michael Nozza, 41, a father of six, was charged with manslaughter in the death of his son Dean and was sent to a hospital for psychiatric evaluation late Tuesday.

Lois Jean Nozza, 28, told police her husband had ordered her not to feed the child for the last three months, but that she had slipped him small amounts of food.

Nozza said when he brought the child to Variety Children's Hospital Monday night that Dean "would not drink anything but chocolate milk."

Neighbors, who had complained to authorities earlier about the children being neglected, called the Nozza household a "house of terror."

Dr. Robert Lawson, chief of staff at the hospital, said the boy "could have had a very severe case of diarrhea and been fed well," but starved because his body would not absorb the food.

Police said Nozza "did not allow the child to be taken to a hospital earlier because he was afraid he would be arrested for child abuse."

Juvenile authorities said the Nozzas were warned "about three or four months ago" to take better care of their children after the neighbors complained.

"I knew it would happen. I knew it," said Mrs. Celeste Venero, a neighbor who burst into tears when she heard of the death. "It's terrible that one boy had to be sacrificed, perhaps to save others."

Mrs. Venero and her husband said they never heard a "happy sound" from the Nozza home in the four years they had lived near the family.

"There were only screams, crying, sounds of beating; the husband threatening the wife, and the wife threatening to leave him and take the children," said Gilberto Venero. The other five children, ranging in age from 1 to 7, were taken into protective custody by juvenile authorities.

New IRS Assistant... 'Rarity'

ALBANY
The newest assistant director of the Albany District of the Internal Revenue Service helps govern an area that stretches from Putnam County to the Canadian border; plans and coordinates the work of five divisions; once served as a research and planning analyst and performs a myriad of additional duties that take on increased significance in these highly taxable times.

That the newest second-in-command is a woman is certainly not a rarity in these days of liberation; but very definitely it's a rarity for the traditionally male IRS.

Miss Carolyn Buttolph is one of the few women to make a career out of keeping a check on the fortunes of others. She is only the second woman in the nation to hold the post of assistant director; she is the only woman in New York State to do so.

Gender she insists, does not make a difference one way or the other in her new job. "If you're qualified, you can do the job. It's no more difficult for a woman than it is for a man," she told The Freeman.

There is, though, a very good reason why more women haven't risen to positions of prominence within the IRS. "There is very rapid movement within the IRS," she said, "and a great number of transfers. So many women have family obligations that they just can't accept a job that involves a new home every year."

Miss Buttolph has been the assistant director of the Albany district since September; she expects to be transferred to another district within a year. "A retirement or death in one part of the country causes movement throughout the country," she noted.

Despite the movement, the absence of a permanent home, and the constant travel, Miss

CAROLYN BUTTOLPH

Buttolph thinks the IRS "is a good place to start a career." She added, "there's certainly no discrimination in any way. In fact, I think the Service has bent over backwards to avoid any kind of discrimination."

"You simply have to be flexible, as well as mobile," she noted. A native of Penn Tamaqua, Pa., she first started work with the IRS in 1958 as a management analyst. She climbed the ladder to supervisor, systems manager and assistant branch chief. In 1967, she moved to the planning and research office of the IRS.

There, she helped with the development of long range computer systems, one of which will be put into operation in this district next year to give better service in the followup to the tax filing period.

Her duties as assistant director to Donald T. Harley include coordinating the efforts of the more than 200 IRS personnel at the Albany office, and another 150 field representatives throughout the district. She has a hand in personnel action, including disciplinary action, hearing grievances and helping to "develop all our employees to the best of their abilities."

She plans and coordinates the activities of five divisions, including audit, administration and collection.

Some one million tax returns are filed each year from the Albany district; a common Springtime chore is the collection of delinquent accounts and investigating many of the tax returns from the district.

She also is responsible for implementing, in this district, the IRS's new Volunteering Income Tax Assistance program, a plan that will offer greater assistance to persons stumped by the confusion of filing a tax return. She noted that the IRS will open a new branch in Ellenville this year to help in that direction, and will staff existing offices for longer hours throughout the district.

Currently, IRS is recruiting volunteers to help others understand the intricacies of income tax. Volunteers — from CPA's to housewives — are trained to explain the more simple tax forms used by the IRS. She asked that interested persons should contact the local IRS office on Fair Street.

Bard Gains Sears Grant

KINGSTON
Grants totaling more than $115,000, including one for $500 for Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, have been announced this week by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation which is distributing the funds to 90 privately supported colleges and universities in New York State.

The New York State colleges and universities are among more than 950 private, accredited two-and four-year institutions across the country which are sharing in $1,500,000 in Sears Foundation funds.

Nationally, private colleges and universities will receive $1 million in unrestricted grants and an additional $500,000 through a Sears Foundation program to assist college and university libraries.

In addition to its unrestricted and college library grant programs, the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, during the current year, will invest more than $750,000 in a variety of other education activities, the spokesman said. This will bring the budgeted education expenditures of the Sears-Roebuck Foundation to more than $2,225,000 in 1972.

Mental Health Clinic Funds Restored

KINGSTON Funds in the amount of $75,000 for the Southern Ulster Mental Health Clinic budget, deleted from the total county budget have been restored due to what County Legislator Robert Kuhlmann (R-Dist. 10) refers to as stabilization in the leadership of the clinic's board of trustees.

Kuhlmann, a member of the county's Finance Committee, said that initially the clinic's budget appropriations were left out of the total county budget "in spite of his efforts" to keep the money included for the Ellenville facility.

The members of the Finance Committee reportedly originally decided not to fund the clinic for another year due to what has been described as chaotic circumstances which have surrounded the clinic ever since it was established two years ago. As recently as Oct. 1, the clinic's director, Mrs. Bernard Kalina and the entire staff resigned over a salary dispute. Then, Robert Frucht, the third president of the board of directors also resigned and, ironically, the first president, Eugene Glusker, who had been previously disposed from the post, replaced Frucht as president.

The most recent turn of events, the restoration of the funds in the county budget, occurred following an executive session of the County Legislature last week.

It was revealed at that time by Melvin Mones, (R City) chairman of the Mental Health Committee, that the election of Dr. Martin J. Cowan recently as chairman of the clinic lent stability to the leadership.

The Finance Committee, in a meeting following the executive session, with new information presented in part by Kuhlmann, voted to restore the money. It was pointed out that state aid for mental health helps to offset the cost to the county.

Kuhlmann said he is needs of Southern Ulster County "gratified" that the funds were and particularly the Town of restored "since the clinic has Wawarsing and the Village of proven valuable in serving the Ellenville."

Opposes Increases

KINGSTON The Ulster County Conservative Party, opposes the county legislator's salary increases as contained in the proposed budget.

"At this time, when our economy is suffering from the ill effects of inflationary spiral caused by large governmental spending, our legislators are proposing raises for themselves up to 75 per cent of their present salaries," stated Bill Jackson, Chairman of the Ulster County Conservative Party.

"The current guide line in the control is a 5 per cent salary increase. The county legislators propose to boost their salaries 66 per cent or 130 per cent more than the maximum under the guide line," continued Chairman Jackson.

"The top winner in the Presidential Wage and Price 'sweepstakes' will be Majority Leader Cliff Snyder with a 75 per cent increase or 150 per cent more than the guide line permits, when it comes to accepting raises our county clerk is not bashful, he would receive a 46 per cent increase," according to the statement by Jackson.

"How many of us could expect such increases from our employers?" continued the Conservative spokesman. "Our county leaders seem to justify these extravagant increases since the amount of revenue to be raised by 'taxes' is down from 1972. The other sources of income the small per cent of the sales tax we pay which is graciously returned to us by Albany and the surplus created by over taxing us last year."

"The Conservative Party urges all the taxpayers to attend the public hearing on the proposed budget to be held on Nov. 21, 1972 at the County Office Building to protest this complete disregard of the wishes and concerns of the taxpayers," concluded Jackson.

Free From Fear

"A world at peace, a country free from fear."

Sunday before his reelection, President Nixon sketched for the nation the goals to which the man elected President should dedicate himself, ideals toward which the victor should direct the country. They deserve to be read now to understand his aims for the nation:

"A world at peace" in which peace would be defined "not just as an interlude between wars, but a time of lasting friendship and cooperation among all people."

The elimination of "discrimination and quotas" in American life so that all citizens, regardless of race or religion, age or sex, wealth or national origin, could enjoy "equal rights before the law and unlimited opportunities for realizing his or her fullest potential."

"A healthy America" in which all citizens would enjoy "steadily better health and increasing longevity," where hunger would be unknown and where drug abuse would be rapidly curtailed.

"An educational system that calls each of us to excellence in all we can do and that would provide quality education for all citizens while preserving the concept of neighborhood schools."

Economic prosperity that is "a secure and prosperous America where there are jobs for all who can work" as well as a "decent income with dignity for those who cannot work."

A clean and livable America governed by a sensitivity to the value of an ordered natural environment and wiser use of limited natural resources.

An America "free from fear" in which the rule of law would be supreme and the rate of crime would decline, and where "civility quiets the angry voices."

These and more are to insure our children's rights to be born in a great and good America—"a land where people's daily lives are guided by deep and moral spiritual principles."

When you get down to the nitty-gritty of this fine language, it means Nixon is set to tackle unemployment, high prices, crime, war. He can't take care of any of these things too soon to suit us all.

Holiday Mail Offerings

Now that the stream of campaign letters is over, and we can take a breather while the holiday offerings begin, most people are asking themselves, "Where'd they get my name?" For the campaign letters were sent indiscriminately to Republicans and Democrats alike, without regard to the party affiliation of the receiver.

And so with the holiday offerings that have started to invade and will soon mount to wastebaskets full. We can understand offerings from credit card headquarters, who have our name for billing purposes, though we don't think too much of their going into the merchandise business. Whatever we contracted to buy from them, we hate to be pestered also with radios, adding machines, watches and whatever.

THE GENTLE RADICAL—At 75, Dorothy Day, called the "gentle radical," a founder of the Catholic Worker, still believes that radical activism should not involve destruction of property or resistance to prosecution. She follows Gandhi's tenets of open struggle, not conspiracy.

The most distressing part of all this ad squeeze is that address list owners sell the use of their lists to all and sundry. These lists also are garnered from telephone directories, voter-registration rolls, motor vehicle registration lists, club rosters, magazine subscriptions and many more. If you are an adult and live in the United States, the chances are you're already on numerous lists and, as they are sold, you will be on many more.

Senator Mark O. Hatfield, Oregon Republican, has introduced a bill to prohibit the sale of mailing lists. That is a start, but it won't cure the ways of mail order practitioners who load the mails with direct-mail advertising, or "junk mail," that harasses and frustrates most persons.

CROSSING PICKET LINE—Discharge for heeding pickets and refusing to cross the picket line is unfair labor practice, the Supreme Court ruled unanimously in a Santa Maria, Calif. appeal. Justice Potter Stewart ordered the reinstatement of four moving-van drivers with back pay. The ruling strengthens practices of unions on strike.

Some Backstage Wirepulling to President Nixon, the Justice Department abruptly negotiated a settlement more favorable to Armco.

The backstage wirepulling was handled by White House aide Peter "The Fixer" Flanagan.

But the Justice Department claimed it had received no direct pressure from the White House. This was the testimony of then-Assistant Attorney General Shiro Kashiwa, who recently was appointed to the Court of Claims.

His testimony is disputed, however, by a memo we have obtained from the department's files. Two days after Armco's appeal to the White House, the memo indicates, Flanagan's office was in touch with Kashiwa. He, in turn, directed a section chief, Martin Green, to work out the settlement terms with White House aides John Glancy and George Crawford in Flanagan's office.

Green dictated a memo to the files, dated Sept. 30, 1971, describing his contacts with the White House. Some of the names, typed up phonetically, are misspelled. Here, however, are excerpts from Green's incriminating memo:

Revealing Memo

"A little after 7 p.m. last night," he began, "in accordance with a phone call received from Mr. Kashiwa, I called Mr. Glanzie (sic) and George Crawford at the White House to answer their questions about the Armco case.

"They told me they had received a call from Mr. Verity (William Verity), tie president of the Armco Steel Company, who told them that he would have to close down the plant in light of the Judge's decision in the Armco case. Mr. Glanzie and Mr. Crawford said that the President does not want plants closed down and more unemployment created, and they asked why we had brought the suit to close down the plant.

"I said that we did not want to close down the plant either, and that we had heard, in fact, that the plant would be able to operate without firing anybody. I further said that with Armco, as with our other defendants in Refuse Act cases, we had tried to negotiate a phased schedule of pollution abatement in order not to suddenly disrupt their operation."

"I pointed out that Armco had chosen not to negotiate, because it thought it would win the case in court, and that now that it had lost, it was faced with the direction of the Judge to stop discharging immediately. Mr. Glanzie and Mr. Crawford said that something would have to be worked out whereby we join with Armco, in requesting the Judge to stay the execution of his judgment. They said that they would call me back."

"At 8:30 p.m., Mr. Glanzie and Mr. Crawford called back and said they have been in discussion with Mr. Verity and Mr. Flanagan (sic), and had decided that if this would meet with the approval of EPA, the government should go before the Judge and join with Armco in a request for a 60-day stay of the Judge's decision. During this time, Armco would attempt to secure from the appropriate local agency a permit which would authorize it to construct an incineration system and make from that system the necessary discharges into the air... said I would inform Mr. Kashiwa of this proposed arrangement, and I thereafter called Mr. Kashiwa and briefly summarized the foregoing."

This amazing memo not only reveals how corporate fatcats are able to fix cases in the backrooms of the White House; it also proves that Kashiwa misled Congressmen when he testified about the case on Capitol Hill. At the hearing, Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., who knew of Flanagan's intervention at EPA, confronted Kashiwa.

"When the president of Armco," snapped Reuss, "comes around to Peter Flanagan or John Doe in the White House with regard to a piece of pending litigation, he should be thrown out on his ear, no matter how much he has contributed to campaign funds... This is akin to a fix."

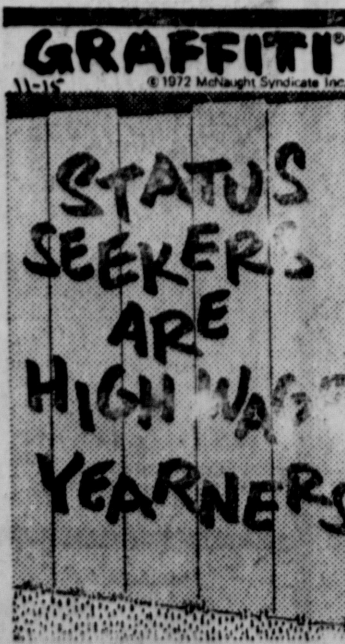

"Well, nobody fixed anything in my office," retorted Kashiwa. Contrary to the evidence in the memo, he emphasized that the Justice Department dealt only with EPA, not the White House.

Both Glancy and Crawford, no longer with the White House, acknowledged to us that they had been in touch with the Justice Department on the Armco case. Glancy told us, to the best of his memory, that he had met with Kashiwa. Crawford said he couldn't recall the names of the people he contacted in the Justice Department.

Verity said his company had been caught in a squeeze between state and federal authorities. He had appealed to the White House, he said, to prevent a shutdown of his Texas plant. He acknowledged that he and other Armco executives have contributed to the GOP campaign chest. By corporate standards, however, their donations haven't been excessive.

Martin Green, who wrote the embarrassing memo, told us simply: "I have nothing to say." His superior, Assistant Attorney General Kent Frizzell, said he had read the memo and couldn't comment on it. But as for the Armco settlement, he said: "I am proud of the results achieved and obtained."

Judge Kashiwa reached in his chambers, responded: "I just can't remember the details. My testimony up on Capitol Hill was the whole of it."

"It'll Be Tough to Sweep This Under the Rug!"

Marquis Childs Says

Modest Mideast Aim

WASHINGTON—Preparing for the months ahead, Secretary of State William P. Rogers met after the election with his principal assistants. He canvassed not only who would stay and who would go but how 1973 would shape up.

His primary concern, as in the past three years, was the Middle East. The Secretary had thrown out a public hint that the time had come for another try at an interim agreement between Israel and Egypt which would ratify the cease-fire and perhaps prepare the way for the opening of the Suez Canal. This drew a doubting response from Tel Aviv in a broadcast suggesting that when Moshe Dayan, the Israeli defense minister, comes here he will have something to say on this subject.

The Secretary is projecting nothing as ambitious as the so-called Rogers Plan. Contained in a speech he made in 1969 it called for a broad settlement of territorial issues, including an Israeli pullback from the canal and the final disposition of the Sinai. Israel's reaction was immediately hostile and the plan won few friends elsewhere.

The Rogers goal today is more modest. He would give an initial impetus to an interim agreement and then hope that private talks between the two countries would follow. This last has long been the Israeli aim.

The prospects for a lasting peace are better today than at any time since the end of the six-day war in 1967. This can be traced back to President Nixon's dramatic breakthrough with Peking and Moscow. In his discussions in the Kremlin with Leonid Brezhnev the Middle East was far down on the agenda. But with the opening of new avenues of cooperation and trade the Russians were anxious to avoid a confrontation with the United States in a conflict over a part of the world where the Soviet interest was secondary.

With repeated insistence Egypt, as Moscow's client state, had demanded military material in advance of anything provided up to that point. President Anwar el Sadat and several of his top military and civilian personnel had gone to Moscow to make the case for "a year of decision" with military power that would force Israel to capitulate.

One of the demands was for medium-range missiles. Installation of such missiles—even the threat—would have brought an instant war. Israel could not tolerate weapons capable of wiping out cities and military centers. As late as April of this year Sadat in Moscow called on the Kremlin for the ultimate weapons.

But the prospect of the Nixon-Brezhnev summit only a month away counted for far more in Soviet calculations. Not even the President's action in mining Haiphong harbor and starting intensive bombing of the North could cancel the Nixon mission, as some had feared it would.

Then came the break as Sadat called on Moscow to take out Soviet personnel. With a little restraint from both sides this might have been limited to the 6,000 advisors with the Egyptian army. They had stirred the greatest animosity from top to bottom and since the army is Sadat's principal support they had to go.

Instead it was a clean sweep; the Russians took away the advanced MIG 25s and 26s that they had been maintaining and flying, with no Egyptian allowed even to look. They took out the SAM-IVs and V's that Russian technicians had operated. They removed most of the personnel from the naval base near Alexandria and the top-secret advanced flying unit at Aswan that had been used for reconnaissance of the American Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

With these principal props of the "year of decision" gone—there has been some restoration at the naval base—Sadat can consider the prospects for an agreed settlement. Despite a recent minor upheaval, he is said to have the broad backing of the Army. Egypt has 800,000 men under arms. Mohammed Hassanein Heikel, commenting recently on the size of this force in his widely read column in Al Ahran, called it the equivalent in cost of building an Aswan high dam every year and then destroying it.

Against this background Rogers is hopeful of progress. Both Israel and the United States are opposed to a role for the United Nations in any settlement. If, as a beginning, the canal can be opened, then the ruined cities along the canal can be rebuilt. Here is one more evidence of the reach of the Nixon breakthrough.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Breakdown Every Six Furlongs

What is the one place where you enter loaded and emerge flat sober? A race track, of course. Mrs. Bishop has a touch of gambling fever. If she knows that we are going to a track, her voice rises to a soft shriek, the hands flutter and my wallet is brought into broad daylight.

She never uses her money for these forays. Nor does she ask me for money. She waits patiently until I slip her fifty, then she kisses me outrageously with many yippee thank yous. Whether she wins or loses, I never get change.

Julian Cole is an old friend from the days of Tropical Park Race Track, so he arranged passes for Calder for both of us. This gave Kelly the illusion that we were getting something we wouldn't have to pay for.

We arrived an hour early, so that we could sit in the turf club over coffee and painstakingly figure out the losers. Anybody can pick a winner, but picking thoroughbreds who can't make the distance is an art. She bet the one horse in the first and the two in the second as a daily double because the number is an inversion of her favorite, 21.

The names of the nags were Tornado Wings and Fra Avalo. They were seen in the gate, and never heard from again. One of the horses which couldn't possibly win—even if he was alone on Calder track—won. He was Lew Wallack at 30 to 1.

The faces at the betting windows looked like mass cardiac arrests. Kelly had all the tip sheets: Long Shot Riley; Jack's Better Known as Bussey; New York Handicap; The Owl; Ad Tab; Lawton—I have never seen such frantic bookkeeping. Silently, I wished she would devote that much work to our abused checkbook at home.

Blue Monty at 12-to-1 zapped the other horses in the second, and no one among our neighborhood mourners had a ticket. In the third, I selected a Perfecta of 6 and 8—Apple Eater and Abroads Boy—and won $167.40. At once, I became a "beeg" man in my wife's estimation. The waiter filled my cup to overflowing trying to read what I had checked for the fourth race.

I played Granny the Grouch to win, for obvious reasons. It came in second—just like at home. Kelly the beautiful blonde was now betting everything to place and show. When her horses won, she cried.

Still, it was the only game, in town, so I went for $24 per Perfecta, thus requiring only five more races to reduce my poke to its original proportions. I had enough left to duke the waiter and the car hop, and a few bob hidden behind the Diners Club card.

There was a loudmouth nearby who waited until each race was run and shouted that he had the winner—except that he had touted himself off it. Expensive Date won the 8th, but I was on Hickory Head, in honor of myself, and Kelly was honoring increasing deafness by playing Tune Up Time.

The best you can say about a day at the races is that it's nerve-racking. Somehow, we enjoy wracking our nerves. When the announcer intones: "They're in the starting gate!" our tummies tinkle. No child on Christmas morning is more of a believer than we are.

And no kid is more disenchanted with a stocking full of coal and a busted sled than we one minute and 12 seconds later. My father never bet on a race. Once I offered to stake him to $2 bets.

"Thanks," he said. "You've heard of sore losers. Look at a sore winner." I gave him my binoculars. Thousands of people roamed the infield below. "What's the matter?" he growled. "Isn't anybody working?"

I knew a waiter who thought he had cancer of the throat. Six other waiters looked down his gullet and were laying six, two and even he had it. Wrong again. He double-crossed his buddies.

Damon Runyon would bet on anything that ran, rolled, crouched or crept. And yet he wrote pearls of wisdom: "You can get 10,000 men out to watch 10 horses run, but you couldn't pay 10 horses to watch 10,000 men run." Fortunately, he paid no attention to anything he wrote.

I will not knock a day at the races, especially if you space them one or two light years apart. Mrs. B. bets secretly, and likes to pretend that she's a few ducats ahead at closing time. I know she loses maybe twelve or fifteen a whack, and chokes a little when she thinks of it.

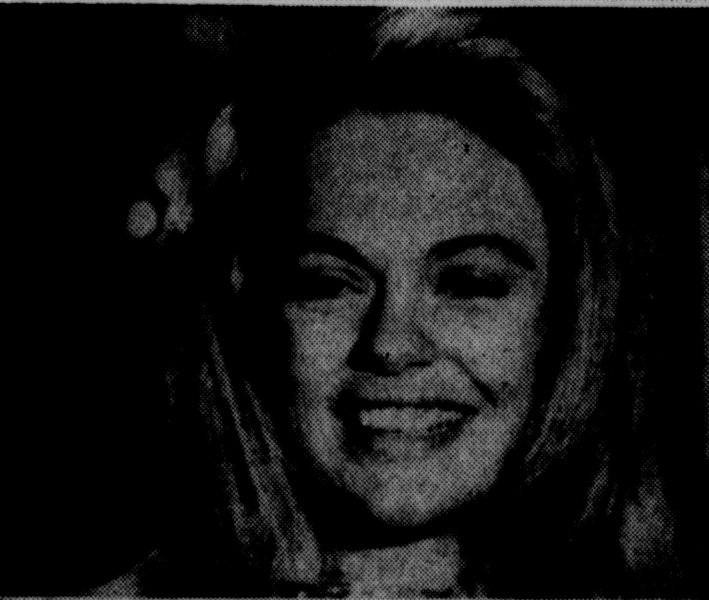

Personally, I could win every race if the stewards would disqualify the first three horses. I emerged from this particular dry cleaning a few dollars behind, but it beats any X-rated movie I ever saw.

When we got home we roughed the kids up a little to teach them more respect for their elders. Then we both collapsed in a nervous breakdown. Boy, I can't wait until we go again...

THE GOSSIP COLUMN by ROBIN ADAMS SLOAN

Monty and Omar: Once it was glorious.

Cannon: Communications are down.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: Are book publishers always right? Can they predict a best-seller? The answer is a resounding "no." Actor David Niven's life story, "The Moon's a Balloon," has sold 135,000 copies and is still going strong. But when he offered the manuscript around, publishers literally held their noses. Even the paperback houses wouldn't touch it. Finally an English publisher friend, Hamish Hamilton, put the book out and the rest is history. Niven and Hamilton have been crying all the way to the bank ever since and David is writing another book.

Q: I know General Omar Bradley is still alive. Are there any other "greats" from World War II still with us? — E. P., Lancaster, Pa.

A: How about Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery? The once flamboyant Englishman is now 85 years old and lives in a converted mill house in the Farnham, Hampshire area. He has withdrawn from public life, but is in fairly good health and likes to reminisce about past glories.

Q: We were fascinated by that huge party the Shah of Iran gave. Has he done anything else as lavish since then? — M.M., Springfield, Ill.

A: The publicity on the million dollar party wasn't all that favorable and so the Shah has been trying to keep his spending out of the news. He is, however, building a fantastic new home in the French Alps near Geneva and will move in as soon as the runway for his private jets is completed.

Q: Do Cary Grant and Dyan Cannon, his ex, even speak to each other? I know they are bitter about custody of their child. — O.P., Portland, Maine.

A: They are civil, but have as little conversation as possible. When Cary handed over 6-year-old Jennifer at the Nice Airport in France, he and Dyan exchanged only a few brief sentences before Grant kissed Jennifer goodbye and Dyan flew off with the child.

Q: Whatever happened to Jordan Christopher? Did he marry Sybil Burton for her money? — R.H., Philadelphia.

A: Sybil and Jordan did marry on the wave of publicity following her now historic divorce from Richard Burton after Burton left her for Elizabeth Taylor. Whatever the reason for the marriage, the warm and charming Sybil has made the handsome young Jordan very happy. They have a young daughter and Jordan stays busy acting. He is soon to appear in the role of Milo Tindle in the Broadway hit, "Sleuth," a role previously played by Jordan's pal, Keith Baxter.

Q: Since Jackie Onassis backed out of campaigning for Senator Claiborne Pell, did she take any stand at all about the election? — P.L., Boston.

A: We understand that Jackie gave money to Senator McGovern's campaign out of her private funds since her husband, Ari Onassis, was not only barred from contributing (as a foreigner) but also favored the Nixon-Agnew ticket. "Jacqueline Onassis, housewife," also gave $1,000 to Pell's campaign.

No Room for Pet
Editor, The Freeman:

Recently we found a pretty little black and white cat on our doorstep and feeling sure it was lost we had it advertised on the local radio station. When no owner turned up to claim it we tried to find a home for it with neighbors and when this failed, we called the Ulster County SPCA shelter to ask if we could bring it there. I had myself adopted a kitten from there fourteen years ago, and this one was such a pretty thing I thought someone would want it. Of course I was told that the shelter did not accept animals from Kingston residents for reasons which I am sure all of your readers probably know. At the time I did not know of the feud between the City of Kingston and the Ulster County shelter.

Since I could not give the cat a home, as my 14-year-old pet resents any threat of competition, and I could not cast it out into the world to fend for itself, I took it to a "vet" and had it put to sleep, and this has left me with a deep sense of hurt and resentment. And I have an explanation now for a happening that took place last spring. While driving along a highway not far from the Ulster County animal shelter we were stopped one morning by a car in front of us that had stopped to avoid hitting a carton in the roadway which proved to contain a number of kittens. They had probably been refused by the shelter and so the carton with its unwanted contents was left on the road so that some passing car might take care of it. Are there any lower depths to which so-called humanity can sink?

JNESCO Response

Editor, The Freeman:

May I respond to the letter from Herbert C. Wolff titled "JNESCO Scored" (Sunday 12, November 1972)? Mr. Wolff seems to need either a dictionary or a Bible or both. In the fragment of "the UNESCO Declaration of the Rights of the Child" quoted by Mr. Wolff there is no indication that any child will be prevented from participating in the faith of his or her choice or the choice of their parents. If such a prohibition were included I would join in the complaint. What is wrong with bringing up a child in a spirit of understanding, tolerance, friendship among people, peace and universal love?

Perhaps Mr. Wolff doesn't know what the word discrimination means, he can find out by looking the word up in a dictionary.

He might also refer to the first article in the Bill of Rights in our own Constitution of the United States of America. Perhaps he thinks that is also a dangerous statement.

If Mr. Wolff thinks there is something dangerous or sacrilegious about universal brotherhood I suggest he read: Leviticus 19:17 as quoted by Christ in Mark 12:31 and Luke 10:25. And while he has the book out read a little more. He might find some words to ponder. The story about the Good Samaritan (Luke 10:29-37)?

Election Thanks

Editor, The Freeman:

The results of this past election represented, for me, a singular source of gratification. The only public expression of performance of a public official occurs on Election day, and when the expression is one of approval, it provides a unique award, of the sort that makes one feel that it is all worth it.

It would, nonetheless, be unrealistic for me to think that our triumph at the polls could have been as successful without the unremitting sponsorship of the Republican Party leadership and Conservative Party Support, the Town Chairman, committee members and workers, my tireless Campaign Chairman, Armand Fulmarello, our contributors, and the many friends who were good enough to "adorn" their automobiles with bumper strips, and their store fronts with posters. To them, and to those who, while enrolled in other parties, saw fit to support me, I extend heartfelt thanks. We shall strive to merit your continued confidence.

Sincerely yours, of the problems that face these missionaries daily.

There is a chapter of an organization in the Mid-Hudson Valley which has been active in helping these orphanages for almost a year. Many people who would like to help just do not know of our existence. We are called FRIENDS OF CHILDREN OF VIETNAM. Members help in many ways. Some donate food and new and used clothing, vitamins, etc. Others help by using their talents, time and energies in a variety of ways all geared to help the babies and children.

Our organization will welcome the helpless. Each member is important in his or her own way.

We are now seeking speaking engagements to help enlighten those who are unfamiliar with our organization or purpose. We are a non-profit, non-political group. Any group interested in spending an enlightening hour of talk and slides or anyone interested in helping these children are urged to call Mrs. Joseph Ryan at 246-7332 or Mrs. David Hyatt at 338-8130.

Dog Not at Shelter

Editor, The Freeman:
The Ulster County S.P.C.A. Animal Shelter on Brabant Road is still receiving calls concerning the tragic fate of Mrs. Vedder's dog. Many people seem to be of the opinion that the dog was brought to the shelter easier knowing that we Ulster County S.P.C.A. Animal Shelter, which was not the case. The Vedder dog was at no time at the Ulster County S.P.C.A. Animal Shelter but was presumably taken to the place where so-called city strays are kept until they are disposed of. Had it been at the S.P.C.A. the owner could have been given ample time to claim it.

Those of us who truly love our pets know how heartbreaking it is to lose one, but to lose a pet in the way that Mrs. Vedder did, is not only heartbreaking but it certainly points up the unfair and inhumane treatment to which our pets can be subjected, if they accidentally slide out the back door when we aren't looking, as any dog is apt to do. So, if you love your pet, watch it carefully.

Praise for Firemen

Editor, The Freeman:

The Kingston Uptown Business Men's Association desires to take this opportunity to commend you and the entire Kingston Fire Department and Volunteers for the excellent manner that you contained the fire that consumed the Yallum's building.

The loss of the Yallum's building was tragic enough but without the fast, skillful fire fighting of you and your men, the entire Uptown Business District could have been destroyed. We are certain that every citizen of Kingston can have such a well trained, skillful and hard working Fire Department.

Our collective hats are off to the Kingston Fire Department! Thank you, Chief Maines, for a job well done.

Most sincerely,
GLENN STAMPFLE
President

Authority Awards Contracts

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Texaco Inc. and American Oil Co. have been awarded contracts by the New York State Thruway Authority to operate nine service stations along the toll road which failed to attract bidders last month.

The contracts for operation of the other 22 stations along the 559-mile superhighway were awarded earlier to Atlantic-Richfield, Chevron, Mobil and Texaco.

The nine stations that were not bid on the first time around are located between Syracuse and the Massachusetts border.

The five-year contracts, effective Jan. 1, provide that the oil companies pay rentals to the state based on the number of gallons of fuel sold plus 10 per cent of the gross receipts on sales of tires, batteries and oil.

In addition, the oil companies must invest $5 million for capital improvements at the service areas. The contracts also call for elimination of the service charges for delivery of gasoline to patrons who run out of fuel on the Thruway, and each company must operate emergency vehicles to provide roadside repairs.

Gasoline prices charged by Thruway stations may not exceed the average price charged by the 10 closest off-the-Thruway stations selling the same brand of gas and the 10 stations selling other brands. However, the Thruway stations may add one cent per gallon to the average price to offset the cost of operating their facilities on a 24-hour basis as provided in the contracts.

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP) — Martin Dies Sr., who hunted subversives in government during seven stormy years as the first chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, is dead at 71.

His death Tuesday night was attributed to an apparent heart attack. Dies first suffered such an attack five years ago.

The burly, blond, cigar-smoking Texan spent more than two decades in Congress, and during that period he voted against all foreign aid bills.

Since his retirement in 1958, Dies had stayed largely out of public view, although he was often called upon to speak at meetings of patriotic tone.

Crisis in Tivoli... No 'Family Physician'

The Village of Tivoli is without the services of a resident family physician for the first time in most peoples' memories.

Some people, having reported "unfortunate experiences" in dealing with nearby health facilities, according to Clerk Dora Gruntler, are attempting to rectify this situation.

Dr. David Block, who served the northwest portion of Dutchess County and lived in Tivoli for many years, has moved from the area and retired from practice in that village.

While this is a problem common to many small communities, and the family physician who makes house calls or is available during night time hours is fast becoming a rarity, it was noted by Village Trustee Herbert Mead that he will attempt to work on the problem through the Dutchess County Department of Health.

In other business discussed at Monday evening's Board of Trustees meeting it was pointed out that the village sewer account is some $6,000 in the red.

It was originally anticipated to begin charging sewer rates in July, but the system was not initiated. Federal and state auditors are due this week to inspect the newly completed tertiary sewerage plant and the books prior to allowing its final $20,000 to the project.

A public hearing on sewerage rates will be held at the village offices at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 27. In related matters, George Virgin, who resides 500 feet north of the village line on North Road, requested that he be hooked up to the system. It would be setting a precedent, as no persons residing outside village limits have yet been granted this request. It was stated that a neighbor, Greg Remnick, would also be interested in this service. He will have to fill out the required application and program, a substantial increase in the amount received in prior years, according to Mrs. Gruntler.

A grant for $1,150 was received from the State Department of Youth for the Torchia has qualified as a driver on both large Tivoli Fire case of a fire. Torchia operates tie in with an automatic alarm system in Poughkeepsie, and to investigate the costs of purchasing electron radios for selected fire department personnel.

And Mead will meet with Gus Lawson of Red Hook to further discuss the costs involved in having the Tivoli Fire Company's

Away From Hospital Treatment

WASHINGTON, D.C. A new kind of "away from hospital" psychiatric treatment for young Vietnam era veterans shows promise of preventing the long term mental illness and prolonged hospitalization that was common in the last generation, according to the Veterans Administration psychiatrists.

After an initial period of hospitalization for "crisis intervention" with medication and counseling followed by psychological tests, patients move to one of several home-like settings.

For some it is an apartment on the hospital grounds where they receive group therapy. Others live in a VA sponsored group residence in the community where they attend mental health schools modeled after colleges.

The new treatment is only for a selected group. VA's chief psychiatrist Dr. Joseph Baker points out. Some do better in the hospital and those whose level of functioning becomes unsatisfactory are brought back to the hospital.

In other steps toward improved mental health care, VA is using satellite psychosocial clinics in some small towns and in some states VA mental health worker teams live in small towns to coordinate resources for the veteran's benefit.

The trend away from "institutionalizing" patients carries through to VA hospitals. In 1970, for example, there were only 45 day hospitals and day treatment centers throughout the nation, but 85 will be in operation by July 1, 1973.

Treatment for mental illness in the VA is showing the same rate of progress as treatment of TB showed two decades ago, Dr. Baker said.

"During the 1950s and 1960s we had tremendous advances as the tranquilizers and psychotropic drugs came into use," he said.

"Now we have other advances. Psychologists have utilized learning methods to reinforce behavior to speed the process of learning to cope with stress and to live more normally. A great deal is also being learned about brain waves," he added.

"Mental health research indicates that treatment of schizophrenia is frequently a teaching and learning process and that schizophrenia need not lead to deterioration of intelligence," he pointed out.

"We know that the hospital is not the normal or best place to learn to live again, and in many cases we would not be doing a man a favor by keeping him in the hospital," said Dr. Baker.

Research Awards Bestowed

NEW YORK (AP) — Departing from the usual practice, the 1972 Albert Lasker Medical Research awards were bestowed Tuesday on 16 doctors or scientists in the field of cancer chemotherapy.

The Albert and Mary Lasker Foundation normally singles out one basic and one clinical scientist in medical research for its annual honors. This time there were multiple awards to winners from the United States, England and Africa.

"Too many physicians and laymen still think of treating cancer only in terms of surgery and radiation," said Mrs. Lasker, president of the foundation, in a statement announcing the awards. "We wished to point up the progress in treating and curing some forms of cancer with chemicals."

The winners were described by the foundations as "all experts in the field of cancer, who have achieved either remissions, tumor regressions, prolonged survivals, normal life expectancy, or cures in several different forms of cancer — some even among patients with far advanced cancers."

The winners will be honored at a luncheon Thursday at the St. Regis Hotel in Manhattan. They are:

Dr. Min Chiu Li, director of medical research, Nassau Hospital, N.Y., and Dr. Roy Hertz, director of clinical research, New York Medical College, Valhalla, N.Y., for treatment of cancer in the placenta tissue of pregnant women;

Dr. Edmund Klein, Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo, N.Y., for the treatment of skin cancers beyond the effective reach of surgery or radiotherapy;

Dr. Denis Burkitt, surgeon of the Medical Research Council, London England; Dr. Joseph H. Burchenal, director of clinical investigation, Memorial Hospital for Cancer and Allied Diseases, New York; Dr. John L. Ziegler, director of the cancer institute at Kampala, Uganda, Africa; and Dr. V. Anomah Ngu, professor of surgery, Centre of Health Sciences, Yaounde, United Republic of Cameroon, Africa, for cancer especially prevalent in African children, manifesting itself in the jaw, eyes, ovaries, kidneys, adrenals, salivary glands, thyroids and testes, and known as "Burkitt's tumor," after the award winner who first identified this tumor.

Dr. Emil Frei III, Children's Cancer Research Foundation and Harvard Medical School; Dr. Emil J. Freireich, the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute at Houston; Dr. James F. Holland, director of the cancer clinical research center at Roswell Park; and Dr. Donald Pinkel, St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, Memphis, Tenn., for achieving prolonged survival in acute lymphatic leukemia;

Dr. Paul Carbone, associate scientific director for Medical oncology, National Cancer Institute; Dr. Vincent T. DeVita, Jr., chief of the medicine branch, National Cancer Institute; Dr. Frei, for prolonged survival in Hodgkins' Disease, a specialized form of cancer affecting the lymph nodes, spleen, liver, lungs and bone marrow;

Dr. Eugene J. Van Scott, Skin and Cancer Hospital, Temple University, Philadelphia, Pa., for improved treatment of mycosis fungoides, a virulent cancer of the skin; by, Pa., and Dr. Freireich, for measures in treatment of toxicity, infection and hemorrhage, which may result from cancers or from intensive chemotherapy.

Dr. Isaac Djerassi, Mercy Catholic Medical Center, Dar-

Each of these 15 winners receives a $2,000 award. A special $5,000 award in clinical cancer chemotherapy went to Dr. C. Gordon Zubrod, director, division of cancer treatment, National Cancer Institute, "for his administrative leadership in focusing the efforts of hundreds of investigators, and creating an effective national cancer chemotherapy program."

Spending Law Faces Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new law regulating campaign finances, fresh from its first election-year test, faces sure-fire attempts to roll back its key reform provisions early in the next Congress.

A key target is expected to be a provision banning indirect contributions by government contractors.

The Federal Elections Campaign Act, which limits the amount candidates for Congress and president can spend on advertising and requires full reporting of the sources and uses of campaign funds, was passed by Congress last January.

But during the closing days of Congress, efforts were made to salvage affiliated political funds, a ploy used by big corporations and labor unions to contribute to political campaigns.

These gifts are virtually outlawed under the out-of-court settlement last summer of a lawsuit by Common Cause against one of the funds. Attempts at repealing the section on which the suit was based failed only after Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., threatened a filibuster.

But both sides expressed the certainty that the battle would be resumed in the new year.

Other efforts are expected to try to reduce the number of reports candidates are required to file on their gifts, to eliminate reports in off-years and to strike the requirement that reports include the occupation and business address of each donor.

The new rules brought some howls during their first testing this fall from those who thought they were too restrictive and liable to shut off the sources of campaign financing.

The affiliated political funds brought the loudest complaints.

These funds are built from collections taken by corporations and unions from their employees or members and given out by the company or union to candidates who can help the donor.

Unions and corporations are not allowed to give their own money to political candidates, but by using money collected from employees, they can achieve the same effect. It's not company money, but the recipient knows full well he gets it at the company's grace.

The catch is that the law apparently bans even this kind of giving from corporations and unions which have government contracts. This knocks out most big corporations and a number of unions.

The practice had gone unchallenged until Common Cause, a citizens' group, sued TRW Inc., a major government contractor which had what was considered the prototype of affiliated political funds.

TRW dissolved its fund rather than defend it in court, and a number of other corporations followed.

But others resisted, especially after Rep. Sam Devine, R-Ohio, introduced a bill to repeal the ban.

The AFL-CIO, which operates a large funding operation of this type, mounted a massive lobbying effort behind the repealer in an unusual harmony with the business community.

The repealer whistled through the House without committee hearings shortly before adjournment, but Proxmire and others stopped it from coming to the Senate floor.

What do doctors recommend for patients in pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again... Anacin.

Each year, doctors give over 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend more than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast; minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours; even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin.

Exxon . . . Winterizing Checklist

HOUSTON, TEX. service station operator will suggest a safe level of protection. Radiator hoses and connections should be checked, too.

Tires — Check your tires for adequate tread and consider purchasing new snow tires. Check local laws if you decide on studded tires. A few states don't allow them and others indicate specific months during which they can be used. Only new tires can be studded.

Gasoline — You don't have to change anything. Gasoline manufacturers regularly change their "recipe" to give the best starting and warm-up performance and good mileage throughout the year.

Motor Oil — When you change your oil, make it winter grade. Automotive engineers suggest a 10W-40 or 10W-30 multigrade for cars in most of the United States. A special 5W-30 weight is available if you plan to hunt in Montana or ski in Maine.

Windshields — This is one that many people forget. Check the wiper blades to be sure the rubber is alive, will wipe clean and won't streak the glass. Also check your windshield washers and the hoses. Special solvents are available to improve the cleaning properties of water and retard freezing.

Heater and Defroster — Check your car's heater and defroster for proper operation. Now's the time to find out if a fan or hose is broken.

FHA Topic For Builders at Newburgh Meet

NEWBURGH A discussion of the operations of the Farmers Home Administration was the highlight of the November meeting of the Builder's Association of the Hudson Valley Tuesday night, according to Melville Arron, president. Guest speaker was Walter J. Raskopf, director of the area Farmers Home Administration office. The meeting was held at Rhoda Arms, Route 9W, Newburgh.

Raskopf has been associated with the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Farmers Home Administration since 1966. He heads the second most active F.H.A. office in New York State as far as agricultural and rural housing type loans are concerned. He discussed the F.H.A. operation in the Hudson Valley area and gave an update on the Rural Development Act of 1972 signed into law by President Nixon on August 30, 1972.

The November meeting of the Builder's Association was a joint meeting with the members of the Orange, Sullivan, and Ulster County Boards of Realtors.

The meeting will be preceded by a cocktail hour starting at 6:30 p.m. sponsored by the Ellenville Savings Bank, the Heritage Savings Bank of Kingston and the Newburgh Savings bank.

TWO AWARDS — Howard C. St. John (C) president of Ulster Savings Bank, presents two first place awards in the bank's recent Harvest Festival contest. The contest was of fall photos of the Hudson Valley, with the winner receiving a $50 donation to his favorite charity. Because of the outstanding quality of the entries, two $50 awards were made. Phyllis McCabe of Tillson designated her donation to St. Peter's Church of Rosendale, while Dewese DeWitt of Kingston designated his donation to Young Life, a new organization working with young people in Kingston. The Harvest Festival contest, which drew more than 50 photos, was a vivid portrait of the beauty of our region during the fall foliage.

Saugerties Winners

SAUGERTIES
The celebration period tied in with the Saugerties Chrysanthemum Festival had a grand finale at Saugerties Savings Bank. And the result for three fortunate Saugerties people will keep them happy for a long time to come.

For starters, a color television set went to George R. Bremser of 4 Abbott Court, Saugerties. Then a microwave oven was awarded to Mrs. Cornine Wendland, R.F.D. 2, Saugerties, and finally a stereo record player was the prize won by Mrs. Mary Olivia Neville, Box 219, Palenville.

"So much interest was stimulated by the combined Mum Festival and our free gifts and door prizes," said John Robbins, executive vice president, "that Saugerties Savings can count this a very successful period of concentrated activity."

The reference to free gifts includes hundreds of residents in the Saugerties area who became new depositors at Saugerties Savings Bank, or increased their present deposits, and had the choice of a free gift from the bank during the celebration period.

TOP WINNER — George R. Bremser of Saugerties gets ready to take his top prize awarded to him by Saugerties Savings Bank. With the lucky winner from (L) are Henry

S. Hartley, president; Cathy Shaefer, Saugerties Mum Queen and John Robbins, executive vice president of Saugerties Savings.

Appliance Industry Growing

CHICAGO exceeded 30 million units for the industry with 2,914,000 appliance shipments. Ten years of upward sales first time in the history of the industry.

The chart also compares monthly shipments with two previous years and gives comparisons with the averages for corresponding months in the previous three years. It shows shipments were ahead of the corresponding month of the previous year in 15, 193,000 a decade ago, August, 1971, and July 1972. Manufacturers' forecasts indicate May, 1972, was the best single month in the history of the industry.

Record 1971 shipments were reported for food waste disposers, electric ranges, food freezers, dishwashers, washers and clothes dryers. The AHAM study also shows refrigerator shipments are approaching the six million level for the first time since the post-World War II buying boom. The 1971 total was 5,691,000 units compared to 3,775,000 a decade earlier.

WOODSTOCK
Paper, glass and aluminum will be recycled at the Bradley Meadows Shopping Center in Woodstock, Saturday, and Sunday, Nov. 18 and 19, according to the Woodstock Commission for the Conservation of the Environment.

The Woodstock Lions Club will collect paper and the Woodstock Youth Center will supply volunteers to man the glass and aluminum center. Paper should be tied into easily handled bundles of about 25 pounds. Glass bottles should be clean with caps and aluminum rings removed and sorted by color. Labels need not be removed. Aluminum cans are recognized by their lack of seams. The Conservation Commission is developing a permanent recycling plan which will permit recycling on a regular basis, under town supervision. Until the plan is set and tested, citizens are asked to support the efforts to recycle glass by maintaining the cleanliness of the recycling centers according to the plan.

Rainer Barzel Is Schoolmaster's Son

Brandt's Challenger...Rapid Rise

BONN, Germany (AP) — The junior to Chancellor Brandt. Some of the long-haired youngsters in jeans and sloppy windbreakers wear "Willy Wachen" — elect Willy—but tons. They try to drown out Barzel's words with rhythmic clapping and chants of "Willy, Willy, Willy."

The interruptions give him an opening for retorts which rally audiences to his side. They also let him accuse Brandt's Social Democratic party of being dominated by its Marxist-leaning youth wing. The charge seems effective among Barzel's conservative middle-class supporters.

Barzel is the Christian Democratic party's candidate for chancellor. He is challenging Willy Brandt in next Sunday's election. At 48 he is 10 years prominence is almost unequalled in West German political history. But though he has made his mark as an extremely capable politician, he trails Brandt in personal popularity. One reason, Barzel's critics say, is that the rugged, chancellor makes a warmer, more authoritative impression.

Barzel was the son of a schoolmaster in Braunschweig, now part of Poland. He ended World War II as a navy flier lieutenant and gained a law doctorate from Cologne University.

He entered politics in 1949 after starting a civil service career, and first gained notice as an ardent anti-Communist. He founded a "save freedom" group in the '50s which accused hundreds of intellectuals of being Red.

Barzel got a Cabinet post at 38, serving a year as minister for all-German affairs under Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. He became parliamentary floor-leader of his party in 1964 and made his mark as a tough organizer and tactician.

There were some setbacks. He backed Ludwig Erhard for the chancellorship in 1959 when word went out that Konrad Adenauer was thinking of stepping down. The old chancellor changed his mind, leaving the Erhard-Barzel faction in the cold.

Barzel was crushingly defeated in a 1966 bid to be the party's candidate for chancellor. He finally made it a year ago when the party elected him chairman in place of former Chancellor Kurt-Georg Kiesinger.

Party members longingly remember the undisputed sway it held under Adenauer, revered as West Germany's founding chancellor.

There is speculation Barzel may not last long if he fails to reinstate the party, which lost the chancellorship in 1969 when after 20 unbroken years of rule, Barzel pooh-poohs such speculation. "With every day of the campaign, it becomes more obvious who is boss of this party," he told newsmen during a recent campaign trip.

Rondout District Announces School Cancellation Policy

KYSERIKE 6:30 a.m. as possible. Should dismissed immediately after lunch and the high and middle schools at 2:30 p.m.

With winter again at hand, it appears that conditions may improve, the first step will be to postpone school for one and a half hours. If improvement occurs, high and middle schools will begin at 9:30 a.m. and elementary schools at 10:15 a.m. However, if conditions do not improve, cancellation announcements will be made beginning at 7:30 a.m. If conditions require early dismissal, elementary schools will be dismissed immediately after school.

Announcements will be made on one of the following radio stations in Kingston, Ellenville, Poughkeepsie and Hyde Park. Parents are asked not to call the homes or offices of school officials, as their lines are needed for important calls to radio stations, bus contractors, and employees, and to receive road information.

Achievement Group Sets $3,600 Goal

KINGSTON — Setting a goal is simple — achieving it is not. When the Finance Committee for Junior Achievement of Greater Kingston sets a goal for its annual fund drive it takes enthusiasm, determination and cooperation to gather the funds necessary to support the JA program successfully each year. Their goal this past year has been set at $3,600.

Contributions come from business firms throughout Kingston and Saugerties. These companies believe, as the JA organizers do, that today's youth should be given the opportunity to take part in the workings of the free enterprise system.

Robert Johnson, chairman of the fund drive, reported to the Junior Achievement Board of Directors, at a meeting held recently that the drive looks extremely successful this year. With contributions totaling well over three-quarters of the intended goal and a number of businesses yet to be contacted, he said, "It's almost a certainty that the JA goal will be reached."

Johnson announced that the contributors to date include: New York Telephone Company, Rotron Inc., Micronetics, Jay Steel Products, Inc., International Business Machines, Montgomery Wards, Bankers Trust Hudson Valley, N.A., Hudson Valley Federal Savings and Loan Association, Heritage Savings Bank, Kingston Trust Company, Rondout National Bank, Rondout Savings Bank, Ulster County Savings Bank, Saugerties National Bank, Saugerties Savings Bank, Savings and Loan Association of Kingston, Sears Roebuck and Company, William Rylance and Sons, Inc., J.C. Penney Company, Big Scot, F.L. Russell Corporation and Kingston Knitting Mills.

The members of the finance committee, selected from JA's board of directors, include Robert Johnson, Bankers Trust Hudson Valley N.A.; John O. Hill, Rotron Inc.; David H. Rylance, William Rylance and Sons, Inc.; Clair S. Shaeffer, Earl Nightingale Communications; Jake Beojekian, New York Telephone Company; and H. Edward Carter, Savings and Loan Association of Kingston. Beojekian is chairman of this committee.

Junior Achievement members are meeting Monday and Tuesday evenings at the business center at old No. 2 School, West Chestnut Street and Monday evenings at the Saugerties High School. They are working with adult advisors from the sponsoring companies — I.B.M., Rotron, Inc., Kingston Cablevision and Kingston Knitting Mills. Members and advisors are being assisted by the executive director for Junior Achievement, Jack Roche.

Council of HRVC Meets

NEWBURGH — The initial orientation meeting of the Advisory Council of the Hudson River Valley Council was held recently.

James Loeb, chairman of the HRVC, pointed out that the organization now has officers and advisors from the five counties surrounding Stewart Airport and also Westchester County.

David Sive, an environmental lawyer of the firm of Winer, Neuburger, & Sive, delivered an optimistic report on the court battle between HRVC and the Metropolitan Transportation Authority over the expansion of Stewart.

Dr. Harold Katz, co-chairman, announced the formation of the Environmental Economic Development Committee to deal with the future use of Stewart.

Adults Take BOCES Courses

KINGSTON in a vocational-technical field registration, that is, State Labor Department or Union sponsored. The program which began in fall of 1972 is open to individuals who are beyond the compulsory school age and not enrolled in a public or private secondary school.

Courses for apprentices include Auto Mechanics, Carpentry, Electricity, Machine Trades, Plumbing and Bricklaying. In order to qualify for these courses a student must be currently employed in the trade. The programs are designed to provide the trainees with the necessary related instruction which complements the on-the-job skill training. The length of the various courses depends upon the nature of the field of office skills which includes courses in Clerical Practices and Data Processing. These courses are designed for sixty hours of instruction and are open to interested and eligible adults in Ulster County. The level of instruction is geared to the experience status of each individual. In addition, BOCES is again sponsoring a training program for Emergency Medical Technicians. Instruction is provided by local medical personnel, experts from the legal field, and a coordinator of medical services. Aronica noted that the interest in adult education courses at BOCES is at an all time high in Ulster County. He said that enrollment in these evening education students.

State Police serving Ulster County logged a total of 64,716 miles on patrol in Ulster County during October and made a total of 1,084 vehicle and traffic arrests.

Lieutenant E.J. Minahan of the Hurley station reported that vehicle and traffic arrests by troopers from the Hurley, Highland, and Ellenville stations included 227 radar speed arrests, 88 speed computer arrests, 21 overloaded vehicle arrests, and another 21 arrests for driving while intoxicated.

Troopers investigated 163 motor vehicle accidents, 58 of which resulted in two fatalities and injuries to 97 persons. speeding, failure to keep right, and failure to yield right-of-way as the primary causes of accidents during October.

Criminal activity included 51 arrests for felonies and 137 for misdemeanors. Total value of property recovered during the month was $13,900.

Miscellaneous activity included 50 inspections of summer residences, 19 breathalyzer tests for driving while intoxicated, 967 messages dispatched over the NYSP teletype system and 2,091 transmissions over the NYSP radio system.

Troopers also located all three hunters reported lost during the month, with 31 hours expended in searches. Lieutenant Minahan said.

Ellenville Records Patrols

KINGSTON

The Ellenville Police Department logged 7,897 miles on patrol and investigated 652 complaints during October.

Police Chief William C. Trappell, in a monthly report to the mayor and trustees, noted that the department had cited 148 motor vehicle violations and made 26 criminal arrests during the month. Police cited 29 overtime parking violations and $311.42 was collected from parking meters on village streets.

Police investigated 17 motor vehicle accidents which injured three persons and caused property damage amounting to approximately $3,570. Chief Trappell reported.

The department handled 45 juvenile cases during the month, with one case referred to Child Welfare, five to Family Court, and the remainder handled within the department. The Police Cadet Unit was on duty for a total of 263 hours.

During October the Detective Division handled 104 cases, 101 of which were closed by investigation. The division has handled 901 cases to date this year, Trappell said.

Trappell requested a meeting with the village board to discuss possible construction of a police pistol range. He noted that he had located a piece of property owned by the village which is well away from the public and predicted that it could be developed with little financing through voluntary police labor.

Ellenville School Board Launches 'All-Out Attack'

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE

The Ellenville Board of Education has launched an all-out effort to sell the school district's voters on a site for a new school. A referendum on the question will be held Tuesday, Nov. 21, from noon to 8 p.m. in the Maple Avenue school's old gymnasium.

The site is the Trowbridge property on Route 209 in Napanoch, and it carries a $55,000 price tag. The district has held an option on the property for two years, and has spent $3,000 of the $55,000 on option renewals.

Next Tuesday's referendum will allow district voters to determine if the school board will be authorized to exercise its option and buy the property. If the authorization is passed, the board will be allowed to spend up to $60,000 on the property, including acquisition costs and the necessary testing. School board attorney Benjamin Lonstein said at the regular meeting of the school board Tuesday night that the district would not be allowed an additional renewal of the option if the present one runs out. He said an offer of $70,000 had been received for the property from another source, and if the district does not buy the property by the end of the year, it will be sold to someone else.

The site has received the approval of the Division of Educational Facilities Planning of the State Education Department for a new elementary school. The district's initial plans have centered around placing a school for kindergarten and the first three or four grades of elementary school on the site. Board members have repeatedly emphasized that next Tuesday's vote is on whether or not to buy the property, and not on a new school.

School board members have spoken to a number of community groups, throughout the school district, on the referendum, and reported generally favorable response.

Board vice president Eugene Houck said the district was "bursting at the seams", and needs a new school to relieve the overcrowding. The district presently has about a dozen classes located in outlying sites, including a 100-year-old building, a 70-year-old building, a converted garage, and in rented quarters.

In other action Tuesday night, the board received a list of the firms and occupations of those involved in the district's work experience program, coordinated by Stanley J. Engelman. Superintendent of Schools Thomas J. Hayden said the program had received a "quite favorable response", and High School Principal Robert Bullock said it was "a tremendous aid for the potential dropout student." In the program, students go to school for half a day, and work at a job for half a day.

The board approved the contract with the district's clerical workers. They had informally approved it previously in a telephone survey. The recommendation of study committee made up of Elementary Principal Milton Lachterman, and board members Mrs. Sonia Olsen and Dr. James Cone concerning teacher aides was approved by the board. The teacher aides will get a raise in hourly pay from $2.10 to $2.25, and will now be paid for snow days.

Maintenance of order regulations were adopted, and they will now be sent to Albany. The regulations are required by a new law.

DRAMATIZATION — To dramatize and bring about awareness of problems of the disabled, Poughkeepsie community leaders spent Monday in wheelchairs. Dr. Martin G. Koloski, Vassar Brothers Hospital while in a wheelchair. It is believed to be the first time an operation was done under these conditions. (UPI)

Council Gives 'Review Authority'

RED HOOK

The Red Hook Town Board Tuesday night gave the Town Planning Board authority to review all undeveloped or partially undeveloped lots in the town in corroboration with a new state law, with apparent widespread ramifications in dealing with housing subdivisions.

The approval will allow the Planning Board to review any and all proposals filed prior to the enactment of zoning two years ago with an eye toward making recommendations for their implementation.

The immediate impact might be felt by such developments as Forest Park, where some undeveloped plots were filed with the county as long ago as 1967 and never developed, and in such areas as the three subdivisions developed by Annandale Development Corporation regarding adequate water supply.

Public hearings must be held on those areas chosen for review by the Planning Board. Supervisor Warren Simmons commented that it has been "found throughout the state that developers have filed and done nothing for five or six years," adding that the town would be "foolish not to give the Planning Board this power."

Lone dissenting vote was from Justice Elmore Fraleigh, who indicated he objected to having single lots lumped together with those filed by large developers.

In a surprise announcement, it was stated that Eugenia Bradley, town tax collector for the past 11 years, had submitted a resignation effective Dec. 31. The name of Margaret Doty was submitted as a replacement to the elective office, but the matter was tabled.

Simmons said he had been approached by a representative of the State Narcotics Addiction Commission asking for cooperation in setting up a town drug counseling program.

Simmons expressed some skepticism about the worth of such a program, and added that matching funds never seemed to follow the state's recommendations.

In other business, a letter from Pamela Thiede of Hapeman Hill Road asked that a bad corner be straightened and signed properly. There was a fatal accident at the spot last year, and many cars have hit nearby trees at the turn.

Simmons also said that county surveying teams on East Karleys Corners Road at another bad turn indicated that the county was planning to straighten that turn out. Several bad accidents have also occurred in that area.

'Objectives' ... Course at UCCC

STONE RIDGE A nine-hour course on setting specific techniques to approach objectives for management will be held by the Management Institute at Ulster County Community College on three consecutive Thursday evenings starting Nov. 30.

The purpose of the Management by Objectives course is to help managers and supervisors learn how to plan and measure their own performance, as well as that of their subordinates, in terms of specific results. The integration of individual goals and objectives with those of the organization to which an individual belongs is a different task and this course will provide the participant with the course may be obtained by calling that office.

Day Workshops Are Scheduled

NEW PALTZ Intensive one-day workshops on behavior modification in the schools will be held at two locations during the latter part of November.

Designed for elementary school administrators and teachers, the workshops will concentrate on coping with behavioral and academic problems in the classroom. The workshops, which are sponsored by the New York State Education Department and the Center for Continuing Education, State University College at New Paltz, were scheduled for: Hauppauge on Tuesday and Tarrytown on Nov. 16.

For further information and registration forms, the Center for Continuing Education, Behavior Modification Workshop, Faculty Tower 516, State University College, New Paltz, New York 12561, may be contacted.

Deputy Fire Coordinators Attend Regional Meeting

KINGSTON The two-day conference provided training and technical speakers for the attendees, who are responsible for county level fire service operations. Major portions of the program were devoted to the New York State Fire Training Program, Mutual Aid Planning, Fire Emergency Communications and the New York State Fire Reporting System.

YMCA Registration Open

KINGSTON The purpose of the program is to allow those in the program to learn more about teaching others, while working with groups of younger children in a swimming instruction class. The course will consist of two five-week sessions.

NEW PALTZ The concert season on the SUNY campus at New Paltz opens with Jose Feliciano Friday, Nov. 17 at 8 p.m. and 11 p.m. in Elting Gymnasium.

Feliciano, "the happy one," who propelled "Light My Fire" and "California Dreamin'" to the top of the record charts is being brought to the campus by the Concert Committee of the Student Government Association.

A musical hybrid, Jose Feliciano evokes lyrical melodic lines when he plays the title work from his "Fireworks" album which he transcribed for guitar from Handel's "Fireworks Suite." On the other hand, in the same album he plays his own composition, "Pegae," applying blues and beat to the delicate lines of traditional Spanish guitar along with a lot of the characteristic soulful Latin sound.

He has been blind since his birth in Puerto Rico in 1945 where he was the second of eight brothers, one of twelve children. His father gave up farming to come to New York where the family lived in a three-room apartment.

Because he was more dependent on his own resources, forced to make his own entertainment, Jose very naturally turned to music. He first began picking out chords on an old accordion following tunes on records. By nine he had a guitar, bought by a friend for $10.

The advent of rock and roll in the '50's inspired him to try singing too. At 15 he played the coffee house circuit from Greenwich Village to Chicago's Old Town, combining folk music with rock, standards, and novelties. At 17 he was a regular performer at the Cafe Id. At Gerde's Folk City in the Village, an RCA executive heard him; signed him to an exclusive RCA contract — that's when Jose began lighting fires.

As a concert attraction, Jose took the Central and South American countries by storm, in addition to being a big draw in the West. One of his best and most popular albums is his London Palladium concert. In 1966, he played to more than 100,000 cheering fans at the Mar del Plata Festival near Buenos Aires. His black tie opening at the Empire Room was a success which was repeated at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas, the London Palladium, the Greek Theater in Los Angeles, and New York's Philharmonic Hall. Of late he has been doing a lot of performing in Puerto Rico.

Many people remember Jose's unorthodox rendition of "The Star Spangled Banner" before the fifth game of the 1968 World Series in Detroit, which caused an overnight sensation and much consternation in some quarters.

On television he is a popular guest star and recently appeared on the Johnny Carson and the Dick Cavett shows.

Tickets to the concerts are available at the Student Union Building box office on the campus at New Paltz and will be sold at the door.

Board of Regents Proposes State Close Rich-Poor Gap

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Board of Regents has proposed that New York State move toward closing the gap between rich and poor school districts by raising state aid to the poorer districts—and by imposing sharp limits on spending increases by the rest.

In a comprehensive set of legislative proposals designed to overhaul the state's financing of education, the regents proposed that aid to the poorer districts be increased by raising the ceiling the state uses to calculate its aid.

At the same time, the minimum payment given the wealthier districts would not be increased. And most districts would be limited to a $62-a-year increase in per-pupil expenditures.

The package would cost the state $263 million the first year, the regents said.

The regents rejected the Fleischmann Commission's call for a statewide property tax to finance a state takeover of school costs, calling that plan an "overly simplistic" approach that would benefit the suburbs at the expense of the center cities and rural areas.

They said the state can move towards more equitable expenditures on education by changing rather than completely replacing the present system.

The regents also suggested requiring each school district to demonstrate that its funds are distributed equitably within the district. New formulas would be introduced to provide extra funds for vocational training and for handicapped or disadvantaged pupils.

State aid would be calculated on the basis of enrollment rather than the current measure of average daily attendance. And formulas giving additional funds for secondary schools and special aid to very large and very small districts would be eliminated.

The regents said the major financing changes they proposed are necessary because the gap between rich and poor districts has grown in recent years, at a time when the courts are pressing for more equitable spending.

They said school costs have increased but the ceiling formula has not been changed to allow for increased expenses. And that has meant that the proportion of school costs paid by the state has declined from 48.3 per cent in 1968 to 42.8 per cent last year, the regents said. Under the ceiling formula, the state now pays a percentage of school costs up to a total expenditure of $860 per pupil, above which the districts must bear all the cost.

The percentage decreases as the wealth of the school district increases, ranging from 92.2 per cent for school districts with just $5,000 in assessed property valuation per pupil to 36 per cent for districts with $40,533 in assessed valuation per pupil. Above $40,533 valuation per pupil, the district is limited to a maximum of $310 per pupil in state aid.

The regents' proposal would maintain the same percentages but increase the ceiling from $860 to $1,037. The effect of that would be to raise the maximum state aid for the poorest districts from the present $744 to $956.

But the wealthiest districts—those with over $40,533 in assessed property valuation per pupil—would still get the same $310.

The most controversial aspect of the proposal is expected to be the limit on spending increases to be imposed on most school districts.

The regents suggest that the poorest school districts be allowed to increase expenditures by as much as 15 per cent a year. But those now spending $1,037 per pupil would be limited to 6 per cent a year, or $62. And all those now spending over $1,037 per pupil would be limited to that $62 increase.

Since the average per-pupil expenditure in the state is now $1,218, the proposal would limit expenditure increases by most of the districts in the state.

The regents noted that this could have the effect of discouraging local property tax increases. But it might also make it difficult for districts to make a wide range of educational improvements, from smaller class size and new facilities to higher pay for teachers.

The regents argued that if the gap between rich and poor districts is to be closed the state will have to impose a ceiling on the expenditures of the wealthiest districts.

The only other possibility, they said, would be to allow rich districts to increase their education expenses as high as they like, and then have the state bring every other district in the state up to their level.

Such an approach, the regents said, would cost far too much.

The ceiling formula the regents propose to change was itself designed to close the gap between rich and poor districts. But a state Education Department study last spring disclosed that it had failed to do so.

The survey said that over the last decade the wealthiest school districts increased spending by 110 per cent, from $966 to $2,030 per pupil. The poorest districts increased per-pupil expenditures slightly less than 100 per cent, from $610 to $1,217.

The regents' proposal today also said that under the old formula a poorer district needs to close the tax rate more for each additional dollar spent than does a wealthy district.

A district with $10,000 behind each pupil could raise the local share of the $860 spending level with a $13.58 tax rate per thousand, but would have to increase the tax rate to $23.60 in order to increase spending to $960. A wealthy district with $40,000 behind each pupil needs a tax rate of only $16.04 per thousand to reach a $960 spending level, the regents said.

Silent Report On Veterans

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A team of doctors has reported evidence suggesting that appreciable numbers of troops returning from Vietnam may have "silent" undetected gonorrhea that could have national implications unless the men are found and treated.

Indeed, the doctors told a scientific meeting Monday, it is possible that much of an already noted increasing resistance of gonorrhea germs in the United States to antibiotic wonder drugs has been due to "importation of resistant strains" by Vietnam returnees whose own transmissible infection was overlooked because they showed no symptoms.

The doctors recommended that all Vietnam returnees be screened by a new test they devised for diagnosing "silent" gonorrhea.

The doctors—of the University of Washington, Seattle, and the Army's Madigan General Hospital, Tacoma, Wash.—made their report to the centennial meeting of the American Public Health Association.

They did so in reporting evidence from limited studies of both civilians and military men that "asymptomatic" gonorrhea apparently is much more prevalent among males than previously thought. They defined asymptomatic gonorrhea as a gonorrhea infection which produces no symptoms in the male or female infected but may produce active disease if transmitted sexually.

The team, headed by Dr. H. Hunter Handsfield of the University of Washington, said of the latter findings:

"Traditionally, it has been assumed that gonorrhea produces a symptomatic disease in men and (an) asymptomatic infection in women. This has produced the corollary assumption that the principal reservoir of gonococcal infection in the community is the silent female carrier. Consequently, a great deal of effort is expended toward tracing these asymptomatic women."

The doctors reported finding, by a special diagnostic test, a "high prevalence" of asymptomatic gonorrhea among a small group of civilian men known to have been exposed to infected women.

They also reported testing 2,000 Vietnam returnees who were undergoing routine physical examinations at Ft. Lewis, Wash., and at Madigan Hospital immediately prior to discharge from the Army.

And they said that of those who had had sexual exposure during their years in Vietnam—a number they did not specify—2½ per cent were found to be infected but showing no symptoms.

Declaring the germs uncovered from the men were relatively resistant to antibiotics, the doctors said: Even though no more than 7,000 men per year carrying gonococci would have returned from Vietnam during peak involvement of the rapid spread of these organisms through the community would have been facilitated by their resistance to the antibiotic regimens (lower dose schedules) in use prior to this year...

Court Delegation Recommends Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — A delegation of State Supreme Court justices that visited two upstate prisons last month recommended recently that all sentences for inmates should be reviewed "with a view to eliminating disparities for the same crime."

The six justices made several recommendations — including higher pay for inmates — as a result of their Oct. 23 visits to the Greenhaven state prison at Stormville and the Wallkill Correctional Facility.

In their report, Justices Samuel Spiegel, Jawn Sandifer, William Kapelman, Abraham Kalina, George Nicols and Joseph Hawkins said they visited the institutions at the invitation of State Correction Commissioner Russell G. Oswald and talked "face to face" with inmates.

The justices said they also examined training programs and inspected hospital, sleeping, sanitary and mess facilities.

They said they discussed with inmates such things as work release programs, higher pay, better job opportunities on release from prison — and "the performance of sentences under the old penal law with more liberal sentences permitted under the new penal law."

They urged that "all sentences should be reviewed with a view to eliminating disparities (and) legislation should be introduced to implement this."

In addition, the judges recommended: — All inmate grievances "must be seriously and thoroughly explored" if the prisons are to avoid uprisings such as the one that took 43 lives at Attica prison last year.

— More funds should be appropriated for expanding vocational and academic training — and — Greater emphasis be placed in the institutions on rehabilitation, job opportunities and community involvement.

—Freedom in cell decor and choice of clothing.

—More pay for prisoners.

—Less confinement in cells "whenever possible."

—Prison administration cooperation with inmate liaison committees.

—More access to showers and more showers installed if necessary.

—Increased inmate access to telephones.

The report said: "More committees should make these visits for both the morale of the inmates and for the knowledge gained by the judiciary about the men sentenced, the places of incarceration and the facilities and training needed to make them fit to return and to take their rightful place in society, free from a criminal existence."

Presiding Justices Harold Stevens and Samuel Rabin of the Appellate Division, neither of whom visited the prisons, praised the six justices for their report and said "visits of this kind demonstrate to prisoners the concern of the judiciary and permit judges to see first hand the institutions to which they sentence defendants."

Stevens and Rabin said they would encourage future visits by other judges.

Senior Class Play Opens Thursday At Rondout Valley

Take one very brainy (but not so attractive) girl, douse her with H₂S (hydrogen sulfide) so that she smells like rotten eggs, introduce her to a shy, scientifically-inclined prep school student, and what have you got? Why, a sure winner of the STUCK POT!

The senior class of Rondout Valley High School will present "The Stuck Pot", a three-act comedy by Roger Garis, Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the high school auditorium. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Edward Kalish is directing the production which boasts a cast of 30.

The parents of Alice Ann (the heroine) are determined to have her emerge from her cocoon ("just in time for the butterfly season," says her father) and be the most attractive girl at the Worthington Women's Academy-Jason School annual dance. Their plans run amuck, however, when Alice Ann decides to be the most repulsive girl in order to win the "stuck pot". The money in the Jason School "stuck pot" is to be won by the unfortunate boy stuck with the ugliest girl at the dance. "Our 'stuck pot,'" says Alice Ann to her equally insulted classmates, "will be won by the girl who gets stuck with the boy who wins the Jason School 'stuck pot'."

The results of 200 girls trying to outdo each other in unattractiveness are hilarious. The side-splitting Act II dance scene shows the reactions of the unsuspecting fellows, the stunned school directors, and Alice's appalled parents. In this scene Alice Ann also meets Edward, who, like herself, has a vent toward science. Once her parents recover from the shock, and Alice Ann and Edward have had a chance to explain, the entire "stuck pot" episode becomes one of the most laugh-provoking antics in the history of the school.

Tickets for "The Stuck Pot" are available all this week at the high school, or at the door on Thursday, Friday, or Saturday evenings.

Married, but Wants New Partner

© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: My best friend, a 40-year-old divorcee with two children, joined Parents Without Partners last year. She met a swell man there (a widower with three children) and they are being married soon, and I am so envious I am ashamed of myself.

I would love to join Parents Without Partners and meet a nice gentleman with a family who wants to meet a nice lady with children.

I am 42 and have three wonderful sons who need a father. The problem is I am still married. My husband is never home and I am tired of being both mother and father. If I could find a man who really wanted to stay home and be a family man I would leave the one I'm married to so fast he wouldn't know what hit him.

I wonder if anyone has ever joined that club just to look over the prospects?

PARENT WITH NO PARTNER

DEAR PARENT: Sorry, but you don't qualify for membership in Parents Without Partners, because technically you HAVE a partner. I suggest you get some counseling to improve your marital relationship, and get that silent partner of yours to sing a more cooperative tune. Widows and divorcees have enough competition without married women who would like a change.

DEAR ABBY: I am 79, and I am NOT senile, but something has puzzled me since my teens. I was secretary to a psychiatrist for many years, but could never pick up the courage to ask him about my problem, if you can call it a problem. (Unfortunately, he is dead now.)

I can "see" things that are not there. For instance, I glance down on the floor, and in the figured linoleum pattern I can actually "see" an animal, bird, or the profile of a person! At times I can look again and see the same image, and at other times, no matter how hard I try to see that image again, I can't.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

These are not just crazy lines all over the linoleum, yet at a glance they go together to form a distinct image. I can do this with numerous things. I "see" images in trees, whose leaves are swaying in the breeze, in clouds, and in some hodgepodge modern paintings. And if I look a moment later, the images I clearly saw are gone forever.

Can you explain this?

STILL PUZZLED IN P.A. DEAR PUZZLED: The images are conjured up by your imagination, and I dare say there is not a person alive who has not had the same experience, so don't let it bother you.

DEAR ABBY: Newton and I have been married for a year. His first wife died after 22 years, and from what he tells me, theirs must have been a perfect marriage. This is my second time around, too. Only I was divorced and my marriage was miserable. Newton moved into my house after we married and

I made him take the torch away. He also started burning jasmine incense all over the house because that was "her" favorite fragrance. I developed an allergy to it, so now he burns it only in the den, and sits in there smelling jasmine every chance he gets.

The last straw was when he started going to the cemetery every morning to visit her grave. It's 26 miles out of the way to his job, so I have to get up at 5:30 a.m. to prepare his breakfast. Also, he uses my gas card to fill his tank.

My friends say I am crazy to put up with this oddball, and they ask me what I need him for. So now I'm asking you. FED UP WITH NUMBER TWO

DEAR FED: I'd have to vote with your friends. And when you figure out what you need him for, please let me know.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L.A., CALIF. 90069, and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

(Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 9:07 a.m. WKNY-1490)

Creamy Sauerkraut

Mix two and one-half cups drained canned sauerkraut with two cups canned apple sauce, one cup dairy sour cream and one half cup finely chopped onions. Bring to a boil and simmer 10 minutes. A good way to dress up a hot dog dinner, yet it's elegant enough to serve with crown roast of pork.

Dansercizer Classes Slated

A 10-week program, dedicated to the total look of beauty in self improvement in time to add glamour for the holiday season, will be given at Creekside Studio of Dance and Dramatic Arts, Old Route 209, Hurley for women and teenagers. Sessions will begin Tuesday, Nov. 28.

The program will include skin and hair care, glamour make-up and hairstyling, speech improvement, diet information and fashions.

Highlighting the Basic 10 Weeks Course will be a fashion show, "Presenting the new You" with students modeling appropriate daytime and evening fashions in ensembles, make-up and hairstyling. Dancers from Creekside Studio will be appearing on the program also. The program is open to the public.

Creekside Studio director Mrs. Marianne Darrow will teach the Dansercize classes, which will progress from simple exercises for limbering, to dance movements and combinations, and also the speech improvement course. Mrs. Patricia Burns, of Patricia Burns Beauty Salon on Mountain View Avenue in Hurley, will show hair care and hair styling. All instructors are professionals with training and experience in their field.

A former faculty member of Kathleen Peck School of Modeling in Seattle, Washington, where she was also a pre-doctoral associate at the University of Washington Speech and hearing Clinic, Mrs. Darrow has more than three years experience as a local radio commentator. As a professional dancer, she appeared with the Pittsburgh Civic Light Opera Company, whose choreographers were ballet master Anthony Nello and musical comedy production supervisor, Al White, and also with two operettas in a tour of the East coast. As entertainment specialist for three years in charge of dramatic and musical productions in Japan, Germany and Austria, Mrs.

Darrow studied classical Japanese dance as well as ballet and folk dance in Europe. A student here with Alexis Kosloff and Theodore Bekefi of the Imperial Russian Ballet School, Mrs. Darrow also studied in New York at Ballet Arts and with Martha Melincoff as well as with Jean Deveson, Ballet School in Vancouver, B.C. Mrs. Darrow has a master of arts degree in speech and dramatic arts from Columbia University.

Now a member of Professional Dance Teachers Association, Mrs. Darrow participates in dance workshops and ballet and jazz classes to bring the newest in dance trends to Creekside Studio.

Creekside Studio of Dance and Dramatic Arts is continuing classes in ballet, modern jazz and tap, and beginning a new class in acrobatics and gymnastics. Dramatic Workshop classes for grade school age and high school are also in progress, offering training in theatrical arts. Of the newest division of Creekside Studio, Mrs. Darrow comments, "The New You wants to help every woman to look better, feel better and have more confidence in her grooming and choice of fashions."

HAIR STYLING will be emphasized in the 10-week session "Presenting the New You" at Creekside Studio. Here, Mrs. Patricia Burns of Patricia Burns Beauty Salon in Hurley, puts finishing touches on the coiffure of Mrs. Henry Harpes Jr., while Mrs. Marianne Darrow, at right, studio director, looks on. BAKING

The joys of crisp fall days can be enhanced by the rich aroma of home baked products. Baking is one of the most rewarding culinary skills, and yet is not difficult to learn, says Louise K. Breitung, Extension Home Economist.

Always choose high quality ingredients for home baked products.

Each ingredient serves a purpose.

Flour — the basic ingredient — contains protein to form an elastic framework for baked products. Enriched all purpose flour is most widely used for most home baking. Generally, it is a blend of hard and soft wheat flours, but may be milled entirely from soft wheat. People who do large amounts of home baking will want to investigate special compounded flours such as cake, pastry flour, bread flour and whole grain.

Leavening Agents — are needed to make doughs and batters rise. Yeast, baking powder, baking soda act as leavening agents by formation of gas bubbles, air beaten into egg whites also acts as a leavening agent as well as steam which forms when oven heat reacts with the liquid in baked products.

Fats and Oils — tenderize baked products by coating flour particles or by forming separate layers of fat and dough which makes pastry and biscuits characteristically flaky. Special care should be taken to measure fats and oils accurately for tender products.

Eggs — have a wide variety of uses in baked products. They add color, flavor and nutritive value. Beaten eggs act as leavening agents and protein in eggs coagulate when heated to strengthen the framework of batters and doughs. Also eggs are a natural emulsifier. They keep fat particles suspended in batters to maintain smoothness.

Sugar — not only flavors baked foods but it increases tenderness and volume as well. It also helps to brown crusts.

Liquids — milk, water and juices are among the liquids used to blend dry ingredients in making doughs and batters. Liquid serves to moisten the mixture and makes possible the leavening action of baking powder, soda and acid or the growth of yeast.

Baking Tips — Measure ingredients accurately. Use the mixing method recommended in the recipe — example — overmixing can make coarse textured muffins and undermixing can cause cakes to be less tender than desirable.

Select the size baking pan recommended in the recipe. Preheat ovens using temperatures recommended in the recipe.

For further information on successful baking — call or write our office for the U.S. Department of Agriculture Home and Garden Bulletin No. 186 — Breads, Cakes and Pies in Family Meals. You may call or write Ulster County Cooperative Extension Association, Home Economics Division, 74 John Street, Kingston.

Helpful Hints From Heloise

LOOK WHO'S BATHED IN COLOR!

Dear Heloise:

Here's a tip for those who have two bathrooms:

Do one of them in one predominating color, with minor accessories of the other. For instance, our downstairs bath is green with yellow trimmings; upstairs it's mostly yellow with green touches.

Thus towels (down to toothbrushes) can be used interchangeably, either green or yellow or both. And it isn't the expense involved in decorating, it's the color.

We have one tub as if under water, sea green walls (with fish decals) on that side. Upstairs it's sunburst yellow all above the bathtub, with a painting of yellow flowers placed in front of the heater in summer. A matching picture goes well in a bathroom.

Helena

We all want to cut down on expenses, but we still want our bathrooms as attractive as possible. Homemakers these days are decorating their bathrooms many ways, with seasonal flowers, artificial flowers and, now, why not paintings too?

Heloise

Dear Heloise: For those unsightly little black heel marks on tile floors and hard wood floors, too, just sprinkle on a little baking soda or even washing soda (baking soda seems the best for me) and rub very briskly with a wet sponge or cloth, and they come up like magic.

Ramona Heflin

Dear Heloise: I concocted an idea for making my own plain vanilla pudding taste extra special.

Cook the pudding. Then while hot or cooled slightly, add some large marshmallows, some cut in half, they'll melt pretty much, and the whole ones partially melt.

Then pour into dessert dishes with some graham wafer crumbs in the bottom, alternating with vanilla pudding (or you may just want to add crumbs on top).

Then top with butterscotch topping and whipped cream, too, if you like. The butterscotch gives the pudding a delicious flavor.

Track Stars Flocking To New Pro Circuit

NEW YORK (UPI) — World record holders Jim Ryun, Bob Seagren and Lee Evans were among the first to sign contracts to play their track and field skills professionally as the International Track Association announced Tuesday the formation of a "run-for-pay" circuit somewhat along the lines of Lamar Hunt's World Championship of Tennis.

ITA president Michael O'Hara said the meets would begin in March of 1973 and extend "at least through August" with competition booked for 40 cities in the United States and Europe and prize money totaling $609,600.

Meets have been scheduled for Los Angeles, Albuquerque, N. M., Chicago, Baltimore, Oklahoma City, Philadelphia and New York in the U.S. and Munich, London, Paris, Berlin, Brussels, Amsterdam, Copenhagen, Oslo and Stockholm in Europe.

Others to sign bonus contracts with the new enterprise include shotputter Randy Mattson and New York Giants' safety Richmond Flowers (a former star hurdler at Tennessee). O'Hara said at least five more well-known trackmen will be signed by next week.

Ryun set the world standard in the mile run with a time of 3:51.1 in 1965; Seagren, who won a silver medal in the recent Munich Games and captured a gold medal in the 1968 Olympics at Mexico City, is the record holder in the pole vault and Evans is the class of the 400-meter sprinters.

O'Hara said that the new

Bengtson Is Just Out on Loan

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI)—Phil Bengtson, a fellow who "can't honestly say" he has missed coaching, was back at his old job today, trying to loan Tuesday from the San Diego Chargers to take over the New England Patriots, from John Mazur, who resigned Dolphins.

Bengtson was sent here on as head coach of the Patriots. The former coach and

Denver Makes It Official

DENVER (UPI)—The Denver Olympic Organizing Committee (DOOC), no longer hampered by a court restraining order, issued official notification Tuesday that it could not host the 1976 Winter Olympics.

DOOC officials sent telegrams to the International Olympic Committee (IOC) in Lausanne, Switzerland, and the U.S. Olympic Committee announcing Colorado was withdrawing its bid.

The DOOC was forced to relinquish the games because of an overwhelming vote by Coloradoans Nov. 7 not to spend further tax money on the 10-day sports event.

The Denver organization planned to announce its withdrawal last week, but was restrained from doing so by a court order which expired Monday.

The court order was issued at the request of Denver attorney Harry L. Arkin, representing the Colorado Citizens to Retain the Winter Games. The newly organized group hopes to raise private funding to keep the games in the state.

Arkin flew to Lausanne Monday to plead that the games be left in Colorado. The IOC took no action pending official notification from the DOOC.

Telegrams announcing the withdrawal were sent by DOOC President Carl DeTemple.

"We do not want to do anything to prejudice the efforts of the citizens' committee trying to retain the games," DeTemple said. "However, we also have an obligation to inform the USOC and the IOC of recent developments and the actions we have taken."

DeTemple said the DOOC was liquidating its assets and preparing to wind up business. He said it would issue a final report of its activities by Dec. 31.

Colorado Gov. John A. Love and Denver Mayor William McNichols have both disassociated themselves with the last ditch effort to keep the games in Colorado, although both were strong supporters of the Olympics.

Love said voters were well aware that passage of the anti-Olympics measure at the polls would cost the state the 1976 games.

WBA Approves Joe and Foreman

HONOLULU (UPI) — The World Boxing Association has approved the title fight between heavyweight champion Joe Frazier and George Foreman, scheduled for Jan. 22 in Kingston, Jamaica, according to WBA President Bobby Lee.

Although the fight still has to be sanctioned by the WBA championship committee, Lee indicated Tuesday this would be a mere formality.

The bout approval came last weekend when the WBA Executive Committee met in Washington, D.C. Frazier and his manager, Yank Durham, flew from Jamaica to attend the meeting.

The WBA gave approval to the fight and said it frowned upon return-bout contracts.

Frazier and Muhammad Ali have a return bout slated as part of a contract signed when they first met in March of 1970.

The WBA then voted to recognize Foreman as the "leading available contender" for Frazier's crown.

MUGG SHOT — Rafael Herrera takes a left to the face from Ruben Olivares as the former champions from Mexico City battle it out at Inglewood, Calif. Forum. Herrera was awarded the decision. (UPI)

Martinez Would Like Shot at Pinder's Title

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Mexico's Rafael Herrera says he won't go to Panama in an attempt to get the bantamweight title back from Enrique Pinder, but Herrera's countryman, Rodolfo Martinez, is willing.

"I'll fight Pinder anywhere," said Martinez, the No. 1 bantamweight contender, following Tuesday night's fight which saw the 118-pound champion score a split decision.

"I'm convinced I can knock him out," said Martinez.

The largest indoor crowd in Los Angeles boxing history—19,200— jammed the Forum and watched Herrera and Martinez also post victories.

The 25-year-old Pinder, 119, of Mexico and Herrera was a split decision winner over ex-champion Ruben Olivares, also of Mexico.

Martinez, whose only loss in 40 fights was to Herrera, got off the canvas in the second round to earn a lopsided decision over Japan's Yoshio Kajimoto.

In the card's finale, also scheduled for 10 rounds, Famo-

Tennis Rankings

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States Lawn-Tennis Association has ranked Billie Jean King of Hilton Head, S.C., No. 1 for the third consecutive year in its national ratings.

The rankings, subject to appeal and review before final approval at the USTA's annual meeting next February, have Nancy Gunter of San Angelo, Tex., second and Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., third.

Mrs. King, ranked among the top players for the sixth time in her career, won tennis' Big Three—the French Open, Wimbledon, and the U.S. States Open at Forest Hills, N.Y.

Auspicious Debut

When the Chicago Cubs visited the New York Mets in August, Willie Mays started the Mets' scoring with a first-inning home run. He played all three games as the Mets took the series, two games to one.

sito Gomez, 115½, Mexico, scored a ninth round knockout over the Philippines' Elly Axinto, 113 1-2.

"I won't fight Pinder in Panama again under any circumstances," Herrera said. "I thought I won the first time. But a Mexican fighter just can't win there."

Don Fraser, Forum Boxing Inc. director, said he didn't want anyone to go anywhere. Tuesday night's gate was a whopping $222,657.

"We'd like to match Pinder and Herrera here," said Fraser. "We think we can offer the money it will take to get Pinder to defend his title outside Panama."

Herrera's win was his second over Olivares this year. He won the title from the two-time champion on an eighth round knockout at Mexico City last March before losing it to Pinder in Panama City four months later.

Pinder was just too tall and fast for Castillo. He piled up his winning margin with sharp left jabs and occasional hard overhand rights.

On California's simplified five-point system, Pinder was the winner 6-2 and 6-4 on two of the officials' cards. The third official had it a 5-5 draw.

Castillo was staggered by a right to the head in the second round and bled from his nose throughout most of the bout.

Herrera, 27, knocked Olivares down with a sharp left hook in the seventh round and hurt him repeatedly with solid blows to the body. Olivares had a small nick outside his left eye at the finish.

Herrera weighed 120 and Olivares 121 1-2.

The 25-year-old Olivares may have been affected by difficulty making the contract weight of 122. He weighed in Tuesday afternoon at 123 1-2 and spent 40 minutes in a steam room before getting down to 121 1-2.

Two officials scored it 6-4 for Herrera while the third called it a 5-5 draw.

Martinez won his fight by scores of 10-1, 8-2 and 8-2. He weighed 118 1-2 to Kajimoto's 117 1-2.

general manager of the Green Bay Packers repeatedly told a news conference Tuesday night that he planned to remain in the Patriots' organization only through the end of the current season and would then return to the Chargers as director of player personnel.

"I can't honestly say I've missed coaching," Bengtson said. "I've enjoyed what I've been doing. I hope to be here for five weeks. I hope to do everything I can do."

Bengtson, who said he has seen less of the Patriots this year than any other team in the National Football League than, perhaps, New Orleans, held a lengthy working session with General Manager Upton Bell after his arrival here to discuss the team's personnel.

He planned to hold a team meeting this morning before heading out to the practice field to prepare the Patriots for Sunday's game with the Buffalo Bills.

Bengtson said his first order of business would be an attempt to improve team morale and spirit.

"Nothing is more important than morale," he said. "You begin with confidence, individual confidence, then confidence in the teammates and confidence in the organization."

He said he "would hope to be able to build team morale, pride, or whatever it might be."

Bengtson admitted he had stepped into an odd situation but added that the unusual circumstances and the "challenge" of trying to turn a team around in mid-season helped him decide to take the assignment.

Bengtson said he was "surprised" he was offered the assignment, "but life in this business is one surprise after another." He said it took him about an hour and a half to decide to accept it because "it was my wife's birthday and she was out having lunch and I couldn't contact her until she got home."

As for the immediate future of the Patriots:

"I can't think of anything radical we'll do," he said, "but I'd be surprised if we didn't put in some new plays. We'll probably drop several of the old ones, though. Most teams at this stage of the season have too many offensive plays and too many defensive plays."

Penn State's Harris College Back of Week

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie "Fabulous Franco" Harris was named The Associated Press Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League today for another 100-plus rushing yard in new-look Pittsburgh's 16-7 victory over Kansas City.

The explosive 230-pounder from Penn State bowled over and around the Chiefs for 134 yards in 17 carries as the blazing Steelers won their fifth straight game.

It was the fourth game in five that he's exceeded 100 yards since becoming a starter in place of injured Preston Pearson. And he surpassed the 100-yard mark despite picking up only 15 yards in the first two quarters.

Running a close second for the NFL's top offensive performer was Tom Dempsey, Philadelphia's chubby place-kicker, who pumped through six field goals—one short of the league record—as the Eagles' red the Houston Oilers 48-17. His shots came from 33, 52, 22, 12, 36 and 20 yards out.

Other nominees included San Francisco running back Larry

Schreiber, who romped for 104 yards in 17 attempts in a 24-21 beating of Baltimore; Colts' utility man Sam Havrilak, with six receptions for 136 yards against the 49ers; runner Mercury Morris, who scored three touchdowns and galloped for 90 yards as unbeaten Miami murdered New England 52-0; and Denver's Floyd Little, whose 79 yards in 22 tries paved the way to a 16-10 upset of Los Angeles.

Two of Franco's dashes were spectacular as Pittsburgh, 7-2, retained its one-game lead over Cleveland in the American Conference's Central Division. A victory over the Browns next Sunday would all but assure the Steelers of a playoff berth—and perhaps the first title of any kind in their 40-year history.

In the third quarter, Harris bolted off tackle and faked Chiefs' linebacker Willie Lanier out of his chin strap. He broke two tackles further downfield en route to a 45-yard run that led to one of three Roy Gerela field goals. "He's a damn good back. It's as simple as that," Lanier said.

Later, the 22-year-old rookie crunched over two Kansas City defensive backs to go 17 yards and set up another of the Gerela three-pointers. And he capped his day in the closing minutes by bullying seven yards for the Steelers' lone touchdown of the day to seal the triumph.

The scores:

Steve Ferraro, who has been running a hot streak, surprisingly dipped below the 500 mark, but Bob Sinnott took up the slack with a 643 blast, as Decker, Ulster County College bowlers defeated homestanding Orange County, 5-2 in points in a Mid-Hudson Conference match.

Sinnott sandwiched a 185 with 234 and 224 to pace the Senators to team highs of 925 and 2639. Drew Pinkham added 545 and Bob Norton 542.

Ed Thorn paced the Colts, who finished with 901-2551 with 549.

Spartan Slump Fails to Dim Duffy's Humor

By ROBERT BERG

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—Duffy Dougherty hasn't lost his touch, either as a football coach or as a humorist. The Daugherty humor has been in top form the past two weeks.

"I'm sorry I didn't do it before the Michigan game," he grinned when his announcement spurred the team to the Purdue victory.

When reporters asked him if he had seen an airplane trailing a banner saying "We love Duffy and the Spartans," he replied, "See it? Who do you think hired it?"

The members of the team have vowed they'll win the remaining two games so he'll go out a winner this year. Since the games are against Minnesota and Northwestern, the odds are they'll succeed.

One thing is sure. He's a tough act for his successor to follow.

Riders Ready

OTTAWA (AP) — The Ottawa Rough Riders of the Canadian Football League today began preparing for their Eastern Football Conference final series, thanking their lucky stars and a bundle of Montreal errors for their 14-11 victory over the Alouettes Saturday in the sudden-death semifinal.

The Rough Riders now must face the Hamilton Tiger-Cats in a two-game, total-point final that opens here next weekend and ends in Hamilton Nov. 25.

Pirates Like July

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — July could go down as the month the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates sewed up another National League East flag. When July began the Pirates led the New York Mets by only three percentage points, but when the month ended they were seven full games ahead of the Mets, who suffered injuries to their top batter, Rusty Staub, and other outfielders and infielders.

Maroon Cagers Open Dec. 15

Kingston High School's first trip into the wilds of the Dutchess County Scholastic League's basketball race will begin on December 15 at Our Lady of Lourdes, according to the schedule released today by Athletic Director Bill Hurley.

The Maroon hoopers will play a 16-game DCSL slate and will fill up their schedule with a home and home series against Newburgh Free Academy.

Coach Mike Rienzo's KHS cagers, who began practice this week, play three games on the road (at Lourdes, John Jay, and Newburgh) before returning to Kate Walton Field House for their home opener against Saugerties on January 5.

The Kingston-Saugerties battles are expected to turn into quite a local rivalry. Already the Sawyers have drawn first blood by winning in football.

Farmingdale Retains No. 1 Ranking in State

SYRACUSE take over as the top small school team.

Farmingdale High of Long Island keeps rolling along. The No. 1 scholastic gridiron team in the state for the second straight year, according to the New York State Sportswriters Association poll, met the challenge of No. 5 Syosset last week and dumped their Island rivals, 36-8, before 8,000 fans.

In the small school race, Pleasantville and John Jay of Cross River were the top two clubs, but a showdown was averted when the former, No. 1 this year and last, refused to schedule a playoff game against Jay.

"Pleasantville backed off for the second straight year," noted Poll Editor Neil Kerr of the Syracuse Post-Standard, "feeling, perhaps, that John Jay is too big. Also, perhaps, Pleasantville didn't want to jeopardize its standing."

Kerr indicated that if John Jay beats Sleepy Hollow in the Section One Bowl, Jay would

Woman to Give Birth, May Be Medical First

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — A young Argentine woman may be the first in history to give birth after an ovary transplant, according to her doctors. The baby is due in March, and so far there are no complications. A report on the case was to be made today to the Brazil-Israeli Congress of Fertility and Sterility by Dr. Raul Blanco, head of the Argentine surgical team that performed the transplant last March in Buenos Aires.

"The pregnancy already is more than 3 months in progress, and it is completely normal," Dr. Blanco said in an interview.

"We have not encountered any symptoms of rejection so far, and we have not administered any treatment to prevent this possibility."

The 36-year-old surgeon acknowledged that the genetic characteristics of the baby will be those of the woman who donated the ovary and not the mother. He said this could create psychological problems for both women.

But "all of the developments that make a woman a mother—the conception, the implanting of the egg in the uterus, the pregnancy and finally the birth—all of these processes of motherhood occur in the recipient and not the donor," he added.

The doctor declined to give personal details of the pregnant woman, her husband or the donor, including their ages and occupations, "to avoid questions of possession between the two women." He did say the women were not related.

Blanco and his team performed three earlier ovary transplants to cure hormone deficiencies, and when they were successful he decided to use the same technique to combat sterility.

Lansky Released From Hospital

MIAMI (UPI)—Meyer Lansky, reputed gangland finance genius, was released from Mt. Sinai Hospital Tuesday, but authorities think he is still too ill to appear for his arraignment today in Las Vegas, Nev.

The arraignment was delayed indefinitely and federal court clerk John Porter said the court is trying to get some indication of Lansky's condition before the arraignment is rescheduled.

Lansky is charged in Las Vegas with "skimming" and holding a hidden interest in the Flamingo hotel and casino in the 1960s. He is charged in Miami with contempt of court and income tax evasion.

Lansky, 70, is free on $250,000 bond on various federal charges. Terms of the bond specify he must restrict his movements to the adjacent Miami and Fort Lauderdale areas.

Lansky was admitted to Mt. Sinai Hospital last week for treatment of cardiac insufficiency after being released on bond. He had been arrested Nov. 7 on arrival in Miami from South America and Israel, where he had been refused asylum.

Mother, Children Drown in River

STEVENS POINT, Wis. (UPI)—Last March a car driven by Elizabeth Berna plunged into the Wisconsin River. Mrs. Berna and two of her children escaped, but a third child drowned.

On Monday, another car driven by the 28-year-old mother again plunged into the Wisconsin River, at the same location of the accident eight months ago. This time, Mrs. Berna and the two children who escaped the first accident were drowned.

"It just looks suspicious," Stevens Point police detective Fred Engbretson said Tuesday, after authorities ordered lab tests on the bodies.

Engbretson said Monday's accident occurred at the same spot and about the same time of day as the first accident. He said Mrs. Berna and the children also were wearing some of the same clothing which was worn during the first accident.

Authorities today were awaiting the results of lab tests being conducted at University Hospital in Madison.

Hospital reports said Mrs. Berna and her two children—Brian, 5, and Michelle, 3—drowned. In the accident March 14, 15-month-old Bruce Berna drowned.

Engbretson said there was no indication the auto had skidded or attempted to brake Monday. Police said Mrs. Berna's husband, Robert, told them he last saw his wife and children about 6 a.m. Monday when she fixed him breakfast.

Processor Is Fined

NEW YORK (UPI)—A n Upstate New York fruit processor was fined $12,500 in U.S. Tuesday for polluting a tributary of the Hudson River.

Judge Sylvester Ryan levied the fine against the Clermont Fruit Packers Inc., in Clermont, Columbia County. The firm pleaded guilty in August to discharging fruit pulp and other industrial wastes into Roeliff Jansen Kill during August and September, 1971.

The government indicated it was prepared to file a civil action against the fruit processor unless it voluntarily installs a new waste treatment plant. The discharge of fruit pulp and other wastes was said to contain substances which reduced the amount of oxygen available in the stream for fish and plant life.

Man Injured In Accident

TOWN OF ROSENDALE
Robert E. Bridges, 36, of Box 74, Lake Katrine, was injured Tuesday afternoon when his car skidded and turned over on Route 32 in the Town of Rosendale.

Bridges told Ulster County Sheriff's Department deputies that he was driving south at 1:30 p.m. when he lost control of his car, which turned over on its left side.

Bridges was released after being treated at Kingston Hospital for contusions of the left leg and back. He was issued summonses for an unsafe tire and for driving while intoxicated.

It was incorrectly reported in Tuesday's edition of The Daily Freeman that Mrs. Irene Nelson was the driver of a car that skidded and crashed Tuesday morning on Route 375 near Woodstock.

Mrs. Nelson was a passenger in the car, which was operated by Martin Bucchi, 75, of 21 Dixon Avenue, Woodstock.

Mrs. Nelson was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance Service where she was released after treatment of head and back injuries. Bucchi told Sheriff's Department personnel that he was driving south on Route 375 at about 15 miles an hour when the car skidded off into a ditch. No summons was issued.

Burglary Reported

Kingston detectives are investigating a burglary reported Tuesday by Kevin Brown, 16, of 84 Cedar Street. Brown said that someone had entered his apartment and taken a pair of boots valued at $30 and a four-yard bolt of cloth valued at $4.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

GINNY: (Q) I went out with Ginny for about a month. She was different from any girl I had ever gone with and I liked her very much.

Then one night while she and I were together her girl friends called up my mom and said they were going to get the cops on me for what I had done to her.

But I hadn't done anything! Not that night or any other night.

I broke up with her because of the call. I didn't want to but I thought I had to.

Since then I have been miserable. I want to get her back. I asked her if she would go with me again and she said no. Do you know how I can get Ginny back? —Lonesome in Indiana.

(A.) At first you felt you had been wronged. Ginny apparently felt she had been wronged. She may still feel like that, but by now she has had time to think it over.

Call her and apologize for breaking up over such a silly thing, and ask her to date you again.

WEED: (Q) My boy friend has moved to another state. Before he left, he had smoked some weed and I was worried about him.

In his last letter he told me about a party he went to where they smoked pot from midnight to 5:30 a.m. I am really worried about him now. I've studied the subject and written themes on it, and I know it's dangerous. What can I do or say to help him? —Afraid in Maine.

(A.) Your concern is justified. Pick out the best paper you have written on marijuana. Underline the strongest points you made. Send it to your boy friend with a note saying you are sending it because you love him. He may not change, but you will know you have done what you can.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001.)

Two CBS Cancellations

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—CBS-TV has confirmed the midseason cancellation of two weekly series that ran into ratings trouble despite their well known stars.

At the same time, the network also announced that veteran trouper Buddy Ebsen, the father in CBS-TV's former hit series "The Beverly Hillbillies," will return at midseason starting in a new weekly hour as a private investigator.

Brynnner's half-hour situation comedy series, "Anna and the King," in which he reprised his stage and movie role as the autocratic 19th century Siamese monarch who hires an attractive woman schoolteacher from the Western world for his royal household, has never caught on in the ratings. Handsomely mounted, it is a period situation comedy—a rarity for commercial video.

Samantha Eggar portrays the teacher.

Also Half-Hour Comedy

Miss Duncan also has a half-hour situation comedy, playing a young woman studying for a teaching degree who works part-time to support herself, with her jobs including appearances in television commercials.

Ebsen's new series, tentatively titled "Barnaby Cobb," will be seen Sunday nights beginning Jan. 28. Though known best on video for his role in the slantstick entry "The Beverly Hillbillies," he is a versatile performer, at home in drama and musical numbers as well as comedy.

CBS-TV's midseason changes will include some shuffling around of other series in hopes of strengthening its position.

For example, Dick Van Dyke's weekly half-hour comedy, also in ratings trouble since being moved from Saturdays to Sundays where it is up against ABC-TV's big movies and NBC-TV's Falk-Hudson-Boone occupied by "Mission: Impossible," effective Dec. 16, "Mission: Impossible" moves to the Sunday night period now occupied by "The Sonny and Cher variety series," on Dec. 22, and Sonny and Cher take over Miss Duncan's Wednesday time period on Dec. 20.

For the record, by the way, "All in the Family" is still the solid winner in the competition for television's no. 1-rated show in the national ratings for the week ending Nov. 5. ABC-TV's "Mannix" is a distant second.

Pvt. Smith Acquitted, Holds No Resentment

PRIVATE BILLY SMITH

FT. ORD, Calif. (UPI) — Pvt. Billy D. Smith, acquitted Tuesday of the "fragging" death of two officers in Vietnam, says he holds no grudge over spending 20 months in an Army stockade awaiting trial.

"I don't have any resentment, not really," Smith, 24, told newsmen. "Not against the Army nor against any individual. Maybe against the system of justice."

The black soldier from the Watts area of Los Angeles, speaking in a low voice, said he felt "very lucky" that the seven-officer court-martial panel found him guilty of only one charge—that of assaulting a military policeman who tried to arrest him.

Smith said he would travel to San Francisco today to meet with one of his "Free Billy Smith" supporters—Angela Davis. Miss Davis was acquitted earlier this year of murder-kidnap charges in connection with the Marin County shootings of 1970 after spending 21 months behind bars.

"God has answered my prayers," said Smith's mother, Hazel, 60, one of 13 family members in the military courtroom when the verdict was announced.

Smith was reduced in rank from E-2 to E-1 and released from custody with a 30-day leave. When it expires, he will receive a bad conduct discharge for attempting to kneel on an MP in the groin and spitting on him March 15, 1971, the night of the grenade explosion at Bien Hoa Army Base in Vietnam.

Killed by the rigged fragmentation grenade were 1st Lt. Thomas A. Delwo of Mechanicville, N.Y., and 2nd Lt. Richard E. Harlan of Dallas.

Smith's court-martial was the first such "fragging" case tried in the United States.

The court martial panel, which included two blacks, deliberated for five hours and 40 minutes over two days before returning the innocent verdict. Two hours were spent in deciding the punishment.

Smith, who could have received a year at hard labor for the assault charge, exchanged his uniform for a brown and black flowered Aloha shirt for a post-trial news conference where he grinned and said, "I just retired."

Smith testified during the trial that he was smoking marijuana with a buddy when the "fragging" took place and that he was arrested because of his known dislike for the company commander, Capt. Randall Rigby, and 1st Sgt. Billy Willis, the officers the Army prosecutor said were the intended victims.

McCranie agreed to give himself up after police surrounded him in the woods near Alpharetta, but still held his ex-wife hostage getting into the back of the police car. He has agreed to give himself up to a minister in Milledgeville, Ga., where the car, part of a motcade of three patrol cars in front and three behind and a helicopter over head are taking him. Command Reports Heavy Strikes

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. flew more than 300 raids, the command today reported the heaviest air strikes against North Vietnam since President Nixon cut back the air war nearly a month ago.

B-52 bombers flew 33 missions and tactical fighter-bombers parallel runs 65 miles south of Hanoi and Haiphong.

As the latest strikes were announced, North Vietnam accused the United States of "carpet bombing" raids earlier this week that cause "many casualties to the civilian population."

U.S. Navy pilots used "Wall-eye" radar-guided bombs to destroy three bridges near Vinh, 164 miles south of Hanoi, U.S. spokesmen said. The avowed aim of the bombing, as it has been since the air war resumed April 6, was to choke off North Vietnamese supplies.

The profusion of targets reported hit was an indicator of the rush by the North Vietnamese to get supplies in place before a possible cease-fire and subsequent weapons freeze.

The United States and South Vietnam are doing the same thing. The U.S. 7th Air Force said today U.S. war materiel shipments into Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airport have been running at 500 tons a day since Nov. 1.

According to preliminary reports, the U.S. command said U.S. jets bombing North Vietnam Tuesday destroyed or damaged two transshipment points, two airfields, two petroleum storage areas, 38 trucks, 11 warehouses, one antiaircraft gun, four supply dumps, six supply storage complexes, seven cargo boats, 15 bridges, 20 railroad cars, nine field pieces and a railroad spur.

Naval gunfire ships also joined in the bombardment. Three destroyers led by the USS Goldsborough shelled two military bases near the city of Vinh, starting more than 40 secondary explosions.

Crew of Apollo 17 Begins 'Isolation'

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 17 astronauts begin three weeks of preflight medical isolation today while launch crews start the final major rocket and spaceship tests for a Dec. 6 blastoff to the moon.

The isolation, in which the astronauts' movements and contacts are restricted, is to minimize exposure to disease or illness that could delay the last mission in the Apollo series.

Early today the launch crew began a week-long rehearsal duplicating every phase of the final countdown starting Nov. 30. The initial part of the test is to end next Monday with a simulated liftoff at 9:53 p.m. EST, the departure time on launch day.

Next Tuesday, with fuel drained from the rocket as a safety measure, Apollo 17 astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Dr. Harrison H. Schmitt and Ronald E. Evans will board their command ship to run through the final 2½ hours of the countdown.

Starting today the astronauts and their backup crew are restricted to three areas at the Kennedy Space Center—the crew living quarters, the training building and the launch pad. They also will make one or two trips to near-by Patrick Air Force Base for proficiency flying in jet planes.

During this period, only 109 persons, mainly training and launch personnel, are authorized to work directly with the spacemen. Many will have minimal contact and some none at all unless necessary.
